The increases granted to take effect May 1, 1920, were estimated as follows, according to the proportions granted the chief classes benefited by the increase.

Clerks and freight handlers, $125,000,000 a year
Maintenance of way employes, $160,000,000 a year.
Train service employes, $157,000,000 a year.
Shopmen, $139,000,000 a year.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Approximately two-thirds of the wage increase granted railroad employes last July by the railroad labor board was ordered deducted beginning July 1 in the board's decision announced today. From the increase last year of $600,000,000 a year increases of railroad labor, nearly $400,000,000 will be cut, it is estimated, by the reductions directed by the board.

In the case of the general class of maintenance of way laborers, the entire increase of 8 cents an hour was withdrawn, while in others of the classes having the larger number of employes, the cuts ranged from 13 to 8 and 10 to 6 cents an hour, as compared with the award of last July.

Although the wage cuts are to apply only on the 104 roads which had filed petitions for the decreases, the board's announcement said that application of other roads would cause the same reductions to be placed in effect on those lines. The decreases, it is estimated, eventually will affect two million men. The general average decrease is placed at 12 per cent, as compared with an average 21 per cent granted last July.

Union leaders withheld comment on the board's decision, but it had been freely stated at sessions of the railway employes' leaders here during the board's hearings on the decreases that cuts of 10 to 12 per cent would meet little opposition.

Brotherhoods to Meet.

Leaders of the four big railroad brotherhoods have called a meeting for July 1, when the wage decreases are effective, to discuss the award.

H. E. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and S M Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western, declared that the reductions granted were "not sufficient to meet the demands of the situation"

In a supplementary memorandum the board points out that during government control the wages of railway employes were increased from an average of $78 a month, in December, 1917, to $118 in January, 1920, and to $141 by the increase of last July. About 10 per cent of the railway employes, chiefly those unskilled, the board said, had received increases approximating 100 per cent. The average increase with the July, 1920, award over the pay prior to federal control was 81 per cent.

The board estimates the present cut would mean an average monthly salary of about $125 for all employes, but such an average means, of course, that while some workers would earn a sum considerably in excess of this, many thousands would fall far short of that figure."

WAR RISK BUREAU HAS NEW PROGRAM TO SPEED UP WORK

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Adoption of a new policy to speed up work for war veterans and a pledge to President Harding to dispose of pending claims and put the war risk bureau on a current basis within the next 60 days was announced last night by Director C. R. Forbes.

Reorganization of the 14 district offices of the bureau has been effected, Mr. Forbes said, to permit functions to be performed in the field which were formerly conducted by the headquarters office here. Medical ratings to determine the degree of disability of the men requesting compensation, hospitalization and vocational training will be made in the field, he said

Plans are being drawn, he added, for the adjudication and award of all compensation claims and for the gradual disbursement of all funds in the field

"The president has promised disabled veterans that the government will be ever 'mindful' of their needs," Mr Forbes said, "and in accordance with this promise prompt and remedial steps were taken to make its fulfillment possible."

OPTOMETRIST MUST HAVE A PHYSICIAN'S STATE CERTIFICATE

AUSTIN, June 1.—An optometrist in Texas who prescribes glasses or other treatment for a person's eyes is violating the medical practice act of Texas, unless such optometrist has a physician's certificate required under that statute, according to an opinion rendered by the court of criminal appeals today. The opinion was written by Judge W. C Morrow, presiding judge of the court

The case was an appeal from Dallas county where Fred R. Baker, an optometrist, was fined $50 and one day in jail for violation of the medical practice act The case was affirmed by the court of criminal appeals, thus holding that prescribing treatment for eyes without a certificate to practice medicine is a violation of the law.

It was held in the opinion that optometrists can fit glasses and correct the vision of a person's eyes after a physician or surgeon has recommended that it be done, but when optometrists do this without the physician's or surgeon's advice it is an absolute violation of the law

The appellant's attorneys claimed that the character of the treatment of the eyes constituted the difference between optometrists and physicians

CASE WILL BE CARRIED TO U. S. SUPREME COURT

GALVESTON, Jun 1.—The case involving the relation of optometrists and physicians decided by the Texas court of criminal appeals will be taken to the supreme court of the United States, according to G. H Aronsfeld of this city, a former president of the Texas Optometric association. He added that Texas is the only state in which court decisions have held that the practice of optometry is in violation of the medical practice act and that in 47 of the states and all but one Canadian province optometry is recognized by statute as a separate profession

KANSAS CITY, June 1—Answering questions with a pencil and paper, Densel Chester went on the witness stand this morning in his own defense. The defendant, once a horseshoer and later a motor car mechanic, is charged with shooting Miss Florence Barton, society girl and daughter of a wholesale shoe merchant, near 57th street and Blue Ridge road as she sat in a motor car with her fiance, Howard Winter, the night of Oct 2, 1920. Miss Barton died on her way to a hospital

Chester told of his early life, of being born and reared in Rich Hill, Mo, and later working as a blacksmith in Kansas City. He was married in Rich Hill, he said He told of his acquaintance with Ernest McKown, and said that on the night of October 2 he was living at a rooming house run by Joe Hartnett Hartnett had previously testified to the same effect and yesterday Fred Robers, also charged with murder in connection with Miss Barton's death, said Chester was living at Hartnett's place October 2 Mrs Blanche Ryan, state witness, has testified Chester was living in her apartments the night of the murder

RAILROAD MAY GET FULL PAYMENT AND U. S. WAIT 15 YEARS

WASHINGTON, June 1—President Harding conferred today with Chairman Clark and other members of the interstate commerce commission walking to the commission headquarters from the white house

The conference was understood to have had to do with the proposal that the government pay the railroads now the total of funds due them on account of federal control and defer for fifteen years collection of the money due the government from the railways for new construction during the period of government control

Although there was no outward indication that the chief executive and the commissioners discussed the proposal to provide for the funding of the $750,000,000 owed to the government for permanent improvements made while the roads were under federal control, that subject is known to be under active consideration

A recommendation that the government take that step was made before the senate interstate commerce committee yesterday by President Rea of the Pennsylvania lines, and is understood to have gained considerable favor. It is believed to have been touched upon briefly at yesterday's conference between President Harding, Chairman Cummins of the committee, and Director General Davis of the railroad administration.

At the conference today both the president and members of the commission expressed a hope for closer cooperation among all public officials toward a readjustment of the entire railroad situation It was indicated that hereafter the White House would be kept informed about detailed steps contemplated by the rate fixing body.

Walks to Commission Office.

Mr. Harding walked from his office to the commission, a distance of three blocks, virtually unrecognized by street crowds When he entered the interstate commerce commission building he was recognized by an elevator man who took him immediately to the office of Chairman Clark. Mr. Harding requested that he be given opportunity to talk to all the members together.

He is understood to have told them that he desired to consult with them very informally, suggested that since he had an official right to communicate with congress regarding rates, he assumed that he should communicate in the same way with its rate making agent, the commission

The president then made inquiries concerning the general progress of the commission in reviewing the particular horizontal rates which the administration believes has put more burden on certain commodities than they can bear.

He expressed much gratification to learn that the commission was already at work on a revision of such rates

Referring to the many complaints that have come to the white house about fruit rates in the west, Mr Harding expressed hope that these schedules were among those whose revision is under consideration. He was informed that fruit schedules had been informally passed under review.

Mr Harding expressed a desire to be helpful whenever it was possible He was assured that he would be kept advised of the commission's work.

Mr Rea of the Pennsylvania was again before the committee today and declared government promises to maintain the lines in as good condition as when taken over should be fulfilled in letter and spirit He estimated under-maintenance claims of the carriers against the government to aggregate $700,000,000 The railroads believe, Mr. Rea said, that it can be shown that the "same amount of physical reparations was not produced by the dollars expended in the federal control period as in the testimony prepared, and therefore the pledge of the president and congress has not been kept"

MONROE DOCTRINE WILL COME BEFORE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

WASHINGTON, June 1—The commission on amendments to the covenant of the league of nations at the meeting of the council of the league at Geneva this month, according to the official program received here today, will report on amendments offered by eleven nations and affecting ten articles of the covenant. Many suggestions made by the assembly of the league may also be the subject of report.

Two of the amendments concern article 21 of the covenant which reads.

"Nothing in this covenant shall be deemed to affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace

China, it is understood, would limit these agreements to the Monroe doctrine alone to prevent recognition of anything like Japan leadership in Asia

According to the latest reports, it was represented that the British were faced with the necessity either of withdrawing from the country or of adding reserves to the forces already there. One plan which was said to be under consideration by the British was a withdrawal to Basra and the organization of an Arab state there under Emir Feisal.

DISCUSS REVISION OF RAILROAD RATES

President Hold Informal Conference With the Interstate Commerce Commission.

WASHINGTON, June 1—Downward revision of railroad rates, particularly of those on necessities, was discussed by President Harding today with members of the interstate commerce commission at an informal conference at the commission's headquarters. The president was understood to have been assured that the whole subject now was under review by the commission

Mr. Harding inquired particularly about the prospect for modification of rates on fruits. The commission officials are understood to have told him they were making considerable progress on a plan for obtaining voluntary reductions in some rates through concerted action by the carriers

It was said that this movement and the general work of ironing out inequalities had gone much further than information hitherto given to the public had indicated. Details as to this however, were not made public

POLISH INSURGENTS HAVE BEEN DEFEATED BY GERMAN TROOPS

ANNABERG, SILESIA June 1—Polish insurgents who attacked German defense organizations in this little village which is located about 17 miles southeast of Oppeln and east of the Oder river, have been defeated and were retreating northeastward during the night before a German counter offensive.

MEXICO CITY, June 1—President Obregon has not yet communicated an answer to George T Summerlin, American charge d' affaires, relative to the memorandum reported to concern recognition of Mexico by the United States, submitted to him last week by Mr. Summerlin, it was said at the American embassy here last night

The newspapers assert that the cabinet will discuss the answer before it is delivered, but that such discussion will not be significant as the chief of the cabinet, General Calles, and Secretary of the Treasury de la Huerta are both in Sonora on leave of absence It now is believed that the answer, probably a counter proposal, will be delivered before the end of the week.

TULSA, OKLA., June 1.—Major Charles W. Daley of the police force this afternoon estimated the number of dead from the race clash here at 175. He gave it as his opinion that a number of negroes had burned to death when their homes were swept by fire.

TULSA, OKLA., June 1.—Nine white men are known to have been killed in the race clash that broke out here last night and raged until noon today with Chief of Police Gustafson estimating the negro dead at 65. In addition, scores of whites and negroes have been wounded and practically the entire negro section is a mass of ruins as a result of fire. The loss is expected to reach thousands of dollars.

Fire department officials expressed the belief early this afternoon that the white residence districts would be saved from the flames still raging in the negro section. With martial law in effect in the city and county, three hundred or more national guardsmen placed at strategic points in the negro quarter, orders issued to disarm all citizens and approximately six thousand negroes under guard in detention camps, officials expressed the belief that the situation is under control.

TULSA, June 1—Martial law was declared in effect in this city and Tulsa county about noon today by State Adjutant General C F Barrett, following receipt of orders from Governor J. B. A Robertson directing that the military take over the situation arising from a race clash that broke out last night and continued throughout the night and early today It is estimated that six whites and fifty negroes have been killed in the fighting, with scores wounded

All available national guardsmen gathered here from Oklahoma City Muskogee and other towns, were placed on duty at once in the negro sections and orders were issued to disarm all citizens not messengers Later it was announced, credentials will be given to men chosen as special officers.

A military commission composed of seven city officials and business men, to pass upon the status of 6,000 negroes held under guard in improvised prison camps was formed by Mayor T. D Evans and Chief of Police Gustafson, with the approval of General Barrett

The commission is composed of the following C S Younkman and H F Newblock, city commissioners, Judge Albert J Hunt C S Avery, Grant McCullough, F E White and Major Alva J Niles

Later this afternoon negro refugees will be moved to the county fair grounds, the commission announced It is believed that 2,000 will be released before nightfall

Rumors of possible aerial activities in connection with the race clash were rife throughout the day, it being reported several planes armed with machine guns had taken the air Later however, it was learned that several sightseeing ships had been up, but that neither city, county nor state authorities had resorted to the use of planes to restore order

The negro section of Tulsa lying in the northeast part of the city roughly forms the letter "L" extending a quarter of a mile long east and west and from a half mile to a mile north and south It is estimated that about 10,000 of the 13,000 negroes in the city live in this area

The negro quarter begins within two blocks of the business district, just north of the Frisco railroad station, and extends north a half mile along Boston street to Stand Pipe hill thence along Stand Pipe hill to Sunset hill thence a half mile north into the valley traversed by the Midland Valley railroad tracks, east to block south of the Midland Valley railroad, south a mile to the Frisco tracks between Archer and First street and there north a quarter of a mile to the Frisco depot.

Seven Engagements.

Seven distinct engagements marked the progress of the race war from its outbreak at 10 o'clock last night until 12 o'clock today The first shot was fired at 10 o'clock Tuesday night in the street at the corner of Sixth and Boulder when 200 armed negroes who had been parading the streets for an hour and a great crowd of whites gathered about the court house steps, nearly all of whom were unarmed The negroes had paraded past the court house repeatedly, apparently in the belief that the whites intended to lynch Rowland

As the minutes passed the white men secured a few guns and began to assume a belligerent attitude themselves Finally a verbal altercation began between the factions E S Masquern, detective, attempted to intervene Suddenly a shot rang out and instantly the firing became general and the crowd scattered in haste, while the armed negroes began training their guns on the fleeing forms

The negroes finally retreated up Boulder street, the alley back of the court house and Boston street, firing as they went When they emerged on Fourth street hot skirmishes ensued on Boulder

Apparently the negroes met again by a pre-arranged plan for those of the whites who followed them engaged their full strength again when they made a stand at Second and Cincinnati

After a brief stand the negroes once more retreated north down Cincinnati, across the Frisco tracks to the negro district

Negro Attacks White Girl.

The trouble is reported to have been the result of the arrest late yesterday of Dick Rowland, negro for an alleged assault on an orphan girl in an elevator The negro was spirited away from the county jail soon after 2 o'clock this morning by deputies from the office of Sheriff McCullough. They refused to divulge his whereabouts. Officers declared he would be given a speedy trial as soon as the situation quieted down, a change of venue being sought if necessary

The first attempts to fire the negro section were made about 1 30 o'clock this morning, when white men openly threatened to destroy the locality Two houses at Archer and Boston, used by more than sixty negroes as a garrison, were set afire at that time and an alarm was turned in Efforts of the fire department to fight those were stopped by a crowd of armed whites and the department returned to its station

The attempt to lay the negro quarter in ashes was resumed at 6 40 o'clock this morning, when almost simultaneously fire burst forth from the doors and windows of frame shacks along Archer street Soon dense clouds of black smoke enveloped the location Under cover of the smoke screen armed men in motor cars and afoot threw a cordon about the places where the negroes were stationed and occasional shots gave warning that the conflict still raged.

As the fire enveloped the houses negroes were seen to dart from flaming doorways with upraised hands shouting 'don't shoot' As they dashed through the smoke they were ordered to surrender and quickly were removed to the prison camps

Troops in Charge.

Adjutant General Barrett took up his headquarters at city hall and announced that Colonel R H Markham of Oklahoma City would be in command of field operations of the guardsmen. General Barrett, who is working under the direction of the sheriff mayor and chief of police said he would continue to do so until he deemed it necessary to change command He said developments would determine whether it would be necessary to invoke martial law

The negroes assembled as refugees and prisoners were being cared for by civic organizations and private citizens who volunteered for the work. Ice water and sandwiches were being

THREE THOUSAND NEGROES REPORTED TO BE GATHERING

BARTLESVILLE, OKLA., June 1.—Members of a train crew who passed through Bartlesville today told Earl Thompson, day operator at the union station here, that they had passed 3,000 negroes near Owasso, about 30 miles south of here this morning, and that they were heading in the direction of Bartlesville. Thompson said the trainmen told him most of the negroes were walking.

Chief of Police Gaston held a conference shortly before noon with a number of local business men and he announced afterward that it had been decided to ask the governor to allow the local state guards to remain here if needed.

PASSENGER TRAIN IS RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 1—Mute evidence of the fury of the race clash at Tulsa was borne by a St Louis and San Francisco passenger train which arrived here today from the east Many of the windows in one of the coaches had been shot out and the sides of the coaches were scarred by bullets fired at the train as it passed through the negro section in Tulsa early today None of the passengers was injured served and the wounded or sick were receiving medical attention.

Throughout the morning long lines of negroes streamed westward along the streets leading to convention hall Many wore their night clothes and ran to safety in their bare feet.

Men, women and children carried bundles of clothing on their heads and backs The articles they saved were varied and in many cases would have been ludicrous but for the gravity of the situation . Here an old woman clung to a Bible, there a girl with disheveled hair packed a wooly dog under her arm and behind trotted a little darkey girl with a big wax doll

In one case an aged negro woman supported an old man, wrapped about with quilts and blankets and apparently very sick He was immediately placed in an automobile and hurried to a hospital

But all those who came to convention hall were not non-combatants Repeatedly grim faced men, heavily armed, whirled up at the big hall directly at the scene of the fighting at the big hall at North Greenwood. With them, closely guarded, were prisoners captured with guns during the fray

Negro domestics were taken from their quarters and moved to the ball park

Can't Use Fire Equipment.

"We cannot use the equipment we have and for that reason have not asked for more apparatus from other cities," R. C Alder fire chief, said in discussing the fire in the negro section.

"It would mean a fireman's life to turn a stream of water on one of those negro buildings They shot at us all morning when we were trying to do something but none of my men was hit There is not a chance in the world to get through that mob into the negro district

"We have five lines protecting the warehouses on the Katy railroad and I think we have them saved. If the wind should change the white residence section east of the negro district would be menaced

"The fire has swept Greenwood street, where the negro business section was located and is sweeping around the hill to the north So far the white residence section on the north has not been touched"

Chief Alder indicated that he was prepared to call for outside assistance in case it became necessary

Fires continued to rage all morning in the negro section but at 11 30 it was believed that the white residence districts which had been imperiled would escape.

All persons not deputized as special officers are ordered to disarm in a proclamation issued shortly before noon by Mayor T D Evans Persons carrying guns will be arrested under the mayor's orders

CONTINUOUS GUN FIRE SHORTLY AFTER DAYLIGHT

TULSA, OKLA, June 1.—Continuous gun fire broke out shortly after daylight near the negro quarters of Tulsa, the scene of all night race disturbances in which hundreds of armed white men and negroes took part and which resulted in the death and injury of an unknown number of persons and the calling out of Oklahoma national guard united to put down the disorder

ORGANIZING NATIONAL FIGHT

Rev. E D Cameron, of Henryetta, Okla, who has announced that he will soon establish headquarters in New York for the purpose of better organizing a national fight against divorce Cameron recently resigned his pastorate at Henryetta to become head of the American Anti-Divorce league He will campaign for a national law prohibiting divorce for any reason whatsoever. A resolution has already been introduced in congress as the opening gun in this fight Cameron was instrumental in getting it before congress

The firing came from a spot where throughout the early morning hours 500 white men and a thousand negroes faced each other across railroad tracks First reports to police headquarters said that the bodies of from six to ten negroes could be seen lying in a space described as "no man's land" The police also had a report that three St. Louis and San Francisco railway switchmen and brakemen had been shot to death

As the dawn broke sixty or seventy motor cars filled with armed white men formed a circle completely around the negro section Half a dozen airplanes circled overhead There was much shouting and shooting A row of houses along the railroad tracks was fired, but lack of wind prevented the flames from spreading A party of white riflemen was reported to be shooting at all negroes they saw and firing into houses The negroes were said to be returning the fire dispiritedly

Late reports placed the number of dead in the neighborhood of fifteen.

With the situation growing admittedly worse, efforts were made to have the three local companies of the national guard cope with the trouble pending the arrival of Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett, who was reported en route here aboard a special train bringing additional troops from Oklahoma City Under orders issued last night by General Barrett, guard companies in several adjacent towns were prepared for possible duty, and it was thought not unlikely that those troops would be sent in here to assist

Until the new outbreak this morning the number of known dead stood at two white men and two negroes killed and an undetermined number of persons injured

The trouble is said to have had its inception over the arrest late yesterday of a negro for an alleged attack upon a white girl.

The negro was taken to the court house and later lodged in the jail, which is on an upper floor of the building Early in the night motor cars containing armed negroes appeared on the streets and headed for the court house A crowd of 200 negroes surrounded the building Armed white men soon began gathering, the situation grew more serious as the crowds increased

Officer Shoots Negro.

The first known shot was fired soon after dark when a police officer attempted to disarm a negro According to the officer, the negro resisted and was shot dead. His body lay in the street more than three hours. A white man was killed shortly afterward at the court house. Meantime the crowds had reached such proportions that the authorities realized the situation was beyond their control and a call was sent to Governor Robertson for troops The governor directed Adjutant General Charles F Barrett to take any steps necessary to handle the trouble The adjutant general ordered out three companies of guardsmen here and sent instructions to commanding officers in a number of nearby towns to be prepared to rush men here on immediate notice

The local guardsmen were thrown about the court house and prevented the crowds from breaking through

The streets were filled with shouting, gesticulating men Sudenly there was a rush for sporting goods houses and hardware stores where the crowds broke in and armed themselves with whatever weapons they could find Guardsmen were used to disperse the rioters at the stores and a military order confiscated all stocks of arms in the city until disturbance could be put down

The situation was further aggravated by reports from Muskogee that crowds of negroes there were arming themselves and preparing to come to the assistance of those of their race in Tulsa Muskogee advices said that the officials there were guarding all highways to prevent the departure of negroes from that city

White Woman Shot.

In a fresh outbreak at 7 30 o'clock in the standpipe hill district in the extreme northern section of the negro quarters, Mrs S A Gilmore, a white woman, was shot in the left arm and side Mrs Gilmore was standing on the front porch of her home when she was picked up by a negro, one of a score or more barricaded in a church

Hundreds of armed white men are being rushed to the district in automobiles An open battle is believed imminent.

Rowland was spirited out of town at 2 o'clock this morning by deputies from Sheriff McCullough's office They refused to divulge his whereabouts

Officers said the negro would be given a speedy trial just as soon as the situation quieted down to permit it and the case will be transferred to another jurisdiction if it is found impossible to try him here

Two White Men Identified.

At 8 30 two white men killed in the riot had been identified.

Carl D Leipeisch, 28, Randall, Kan was shot through the breast and taken to a hospital at 8 30 o'clock this morning. He died shortly afterward

F M Baker, Havelin, Kan., 27, was shot in the back with buckshot. He died this morning at a hospital.

An unidentified white man about 25, light brown hair, light brown eyes, five feet, ten inches, 160 pounds, was taken to an undertaking parlor

A partial list of wounded compiled early today follows

F L. Curry, 28 Tulsa, slightly wounded in the neck.

A B Stick, 22, city clerk of Sapulpa Oklahoma probably fatally wounded Standing on steps of a leading hotel when struck by stray bullet

G T Prunkard 34 railroad conductor, Sapulpa, seriously wounded

Lee Fischer, 21, Tulsa seriously wounded

L C Slinkard 25 Tulsa, seriously injured when run over by automobile loaded with armed negroes

At 9 o'clock, 2 000 negroes had been gathered at convention hall under guard It was filled, as was also the police station The remainder of those gathered up are being taken to the baseball park, all under armed guards

FIRST WHITE WOMAN TO REACH HEART OF SAHARA

THE ADVENTURE OF THE SPECKLED BAND

By A. CONAN DOYLE

Copyright, 1921, by Harper & Bros. Published by special arrangement with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The story thus far

Early one morning Helen Stoner came terrified to Holmes for help. She said she lived with her stepfather the last survivor of one of the oldest families in England the Roylotts of Stoke Moran. He was a physician who had given up practicing after having beaten a servant to death in anger in India. In India Dr Roylott had married Helen's mother, who had died not long after returning to England and Helen and her sister had since lived with him. Helen's mother left all her money to her husband until her daughters should marry

He developed a violent temper He let gypsies live on the run-down estate He kept a cheetah and a baboon from India. And he was the terror of the neighborhood. Two years before her sister, who had just become engaged died tragically One evening, complaining of the smell of tobacco in her room which was next her uncle's she went to Helen's room and told her that each night she heard a low whistle She returned to her room and locked the door A few hours later Helen heard her scream out in terror and rushed to her She muttered, 'It was the speckled Band' and shortly died in agony

PART THREE

"Two years have passed since then" continued Miss Stoner, 'and my life has been until lately lonlier than ever A month ago however a dear friend whom I have known for many years has done me the honor to ask my hand in marriage. His name is Armitage—Percy Armitage—the second son of Mr Armitage of Crane Water, near Reading My stepfather has offered no opposition to the match, and we are to be married in the course of the spring Two days ago some repairs were started in the west wing of the building, and my bedroom wall has been pierced so that I have had to move into the chamber in which my sister died, and to sleep in the very bed in which she slept. Imagine, then my thrill of danger when last night, as I lay awake, thinking over her terrible fate, I suddenly heard in the silence of the night the low whistle which had been the herald of her own death I sprang up and lit the lamp, but nothing was to be seen in the room I was too shaken to go to bed again, however, so I dressed and as soon as it was daylight I slipped down got a dog-cart at the 'Crown Inn' which is opposite, and drove to Leatherhead from whence I have come on this morning with the one object of seeing you and asking your advice'

"You have done wisely' said my friend "But have you told me all?"

"Yes, all"

"Miss Roylott you have not You are screening your stepfather'

"Why, what do you mean?"

For answer Holmes pushed back the frill of black lace which fringed the hand that lay upon our visitor's knee Five little livid spots, the marks of four fingers and a thumb, were printed upon the white wrist

"You have been cruelly used," said Holmes.

The lady colored deeply and covered over her injured wrist. "He is a hard man," she said, 'and perhaps he hardly knowns his own strength'

There was a long silence, during which Holmes leaned his chin upon his hands and stared into the crackling fire.

'This is a very deep business" he said at last 'There are a thousand details which I should desire to know before I decide upon our course of action Yet we have not a moment to lose If we were to come to Stoke Moran today would it be possible for us to see over these rooms without the knowledge of your stepfather?'

As it happens he spoke of coming into town today upon some most important business It is probable that he will be away all day and that there would be nothing to disturb you We have a housekeeper now but she is old and foolish and I could easily get her out of the way'

Excellent You are not averse to this trip Watson?'

'By no means"

'Then we shall both come What are you going to do yourself?'

I have one or two things which I would wish to do now that I am in town But I shall return by the twelve o clock train so as to be there in time for your coming"

'And you may expect us early in the afternoon I have myself some small business matters to attend to Will you not wait and breakfast?'

'No, I must go My heart is lightened already since I have confided my trouble to you I shall look forward to seeing you again this afternoon' She dropped her thick black veil over her face and glided from the room

'And what do you think of it all Watson?' asked Sherlock Holmes, leaning back in his chair

'It seems to me to be a most dark and sinister business'

"Dark enough and sinister enough"

"Yet if the lady is correct in saying that the flooring and walls are sound and that the door window and chimney are impassable, then her sister must have been undoubtedly alone when she met her mysterious end"

What becomes, then of these nocturnal whistles, and what of the very peculiar words of the dying woman?'

'I cannot think"

"When you combine the ideas of whistles at night the presence of a band of gypsies who are on intimate terms with this old doctor the fact that we have every reason to believe that the doctor has an interest in preventing his stepdaughter's marriage the dying allusion to a band and, finally, the fact that Miss Helen Stoner heard a metallic clang which might have been caused by one of those metal bars which secure the shutters falling back into their place, I think that there is good ground to think the mystery may be cleared along those lines"

But what then, did the gypsies do?'

'I cannot imagine"

'I see many objections to any such theory

And so do I It is precisely for that reason that we are going to Stoke Moran this day I want to see whether the objections are fatal or if they may be explained away But what in the name of the devil!'

The ejaculation had been drawn from my companion by the fact that our door had been suddenly dashed open, and that a huge man had framed himself in the aperture His costume was a peculiar mixture of the professional and of the agricultural having a black top-hat, a long frock-coat, and a pair of high gaiters with a hunting-crop swinging in his hand So tall was he that his hat actually brushed the cross bar of the doorway and his breadth seemed to span it across from side to side A large face seared with a thousand wrinkles burned yellow with the sun, and marked with every evil passion was turned from one to the other of us, while his deep-set, bile-shot eyes and his high thin fleshless nose gave him somewhat the resemblance to a fierce old bird of prey

"Which of you is Holmes?' asked this apparition

'My name sir but you have the advantage of me" said my companion, quietly

'I am Dr Grimesby Roylott, of Stoke Moran'

'Indeed doctor' said Holmes, blandly 'Pray take a seat"

I will do nothing of the kind. My stepdaughter has been here. I have traced her What has she been saying to you?

"It is a little cold for the time of the year' said Holmes

'What has she been saying to you?' screamed the old man furiously

'But I have heard that the crocuses promise well continued my companion imperturbably

Ha! You put me off do you?' said our new visitor taking a step forward and shaking his hunting crop I know you you scoundrel! I have heard of you before You are Holmes the meddler"

My friend smiled

Holmes the busybody!"

His smile broadened

'Holmes, the Scotland-yard Jack-in-office

Holmes chuckled heartily 'Your conversation is most entertaining said he When you go out close the door for there is a decided draught

'I will go out when I have said my say Don't you dare to meddle with my affairs I know that Miss Stoner has been here I traced her' I am a dangerous man to fall foul of' See here" He stepped swiftly forward seized the poker and bent it into a curve with his huge brown hands

'See that you keep yourself out of my grip he snarled and hurling the twisted poker into the fireplace he strode out of the room

'He seems a very amiable person" said Holmes laughing I am not quite so bulky, but if he had remained I might have shown him that my grip was not so much more feeble than his own" As he spoke he picked up the steel poker and with a sudden effort straightened it out again.

"Fancy his having the insolence to confound me with the official detective force' This incident gives zest to our investigation however and I only trust that our little friend will not suffer from her imprudence in allowing this brute to trace her And now Watson we shall order breakfast and afterwards I shall walk down to Doctors Commons where I hope to get some data which will help us in this matter

It was nearly one o'clock when Sherlock Holmes returned from his excursion He held in his hand a sheet of blue paper scrawled over with notes and figures

I have seen the will of the deceased wife" said he "To determine its exact meaning I have been obliged to work out the present prices of the investment with which it is concerned The total income which at the time of the wife's death was little short of 1100 pounds, is now through the fall in agricultural prices not more than 750 pounds Each daughter can claim an income of 250 pounds in case of marriage It is evident, therefore that if both girls had married, this beauty would have had a mere pittance while even one of them would cripple him to a very serious extent My morning's work has not been wasted since it has proved that he has the very strongest motives for standing in the way of anything of the sort And now Watson this is too serious for dawdling especially as the old man is aware that we are interesting ourselves in his affairs so if you are ready we shall call a cab and drive to Waterloo I should be very much obliged if you would slip your revolver into your pocket An Eley's No 2 is an excellent argument with gentlemen who can twist steel poker into knots That and a toothbrush are, I think, all that we need.'

We desire to thank our many friends for the beautiful floral offerings and kind words of sympathy in our darkest hours of sadness in the loss of our loved one, Veta Morris May God's richest blessings rest with all of you is our prayer Mr and Mrs L. J Polk, Mrs. Mary Morris. 19-1tp

MEETING SOON WILL CONSIDER PLAN FOR SOLDIER MEMORIAL

A meeting of representatives of civic and patriotic organizations is to be called shortly to consider plans for the memorial park to be created at the Bellevue tract

Several plans have been advanced for the park One provides for erecting a mausoleum in the center of the park with crypts in which the bodies brought back from overseas will be placed Another suggestion is for the erection of a granite shaft bearing the names of those who failed to return It is not yet known whether relatives of war victims would be agreeable to the first mentioned plan Judge and Mrs. A. H Carrigan, who have started work on a mausoleum in honor of their son Lieut. Pat Carrigan are understood to be ready to join in the movement for a community memorial

While no steps have been taken for the memorial itself it is the sentiment among those most interested that it should be sufficiently elaborate to do real honor to the memory of those who met death overseas Several Wichitans have privately announced their readiness to contribute liberally to the memorial fund

$314 IN BILLS IS FOUND NEAR SCENE OF RECENT TRAGEDY

Two children at play late Tuesday near the dugout in which George Gentry aged 54, was found fatally wounded several weeks ago, discovered currency amounting to $314 thereby furnishing an important link in the chain of evidence which officers expect soon to lead to important developments in this tragic mystery

The children grandchildren of Mr and Mrs W G Wooten, who live at Elm and Mississippi streets had been playing with a piece of iron While throwing it about it went under the the Wooten house and in reaching to recover it one of the boys found the money There were three $100 bills in one roll and $14 in another

Detective Chief Boyd was notified at once and went to the scene It is his belief that the money was placed under the house after Gentry had been struck down and robbed by someone who knew of his distrust of banks and his habit of keeping his money on his person

REVISING FREIGHT RATES FOR OCEAN COMPETITION

WASHINGTON May 31—Trans-continental railroad freight rates are being altered to meet ocean competition between the Atlantic and the Pacific via the Panama canal Edward Chambers vice president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe declared before the senate committee investigating the railroad situation

We shall fix the rates from San Francisco to New York to meet the water carriers Mr Chambers said and then modify the interior rate structure so that Kansas City, Chicago and Cincinnati for instance will get the same rate as that to New York and producers in all points will be placed on a competitive basis

What that means said Chairman Cummins will be that you will then be carrying freight from Chicago or Kansas City to New York, or vice versa for nothing

That may be so senator, Mr Chambers responded but it isn t the way we figure it The manufacturer, for instance will be satisfied in each case because he will get his products just as cheaply as his competitor!

IMPERIAL PREMIERS TO MEET IN LONDON; IS IMPORTANT EVENT

By Associated Press

LONDON May 31—The imperial premiers together with representatives of India are assembling in London the second fortnight in June for what is considered the most important meeting of the kind ever held in the history of the British empire

Matters that will come up for discussion will include the naval defense of the empire, renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, the imperial foreign policy and the arrangements for a subsequent imperial conference to settle the lines of policy between the mother country and the dominions and the representation of the dominions in the imperial parliament

Of these questions the Anglo-Japanese alliance is the dominating one involving as it does future relations between Great Britain and the United States and, incidentally the naval policy

That part of the naval policy which needs settlement is the extent to which the dominions will in the future contribute to the burden of he naval defense of the empire which heretofore has fallen almost entirely on the mother country The prime minister some months ago declared in the house of commons that the British taxpayers could not longer be expected to bear this heavy burden alone and that it must be shared by the dominions

GOVERNMENT WORKS FROM BOTTOM UP IN THE CHINESE EMPIRE

JAPAN THE SITUATION IS JUST THE REVERSE SAYS RUSSELL.

IS DISSOLVING AND NEW NATION TAKING PLACE

People Being to Get What They Want Although It May Take Time to Do So.

CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL, Correspondent of the Wichita Daily Times

(Copyright, 1921, by Wichita Daily Times)

SHANGHAI, June 1.—'In China,' said an old American, many years resident in Shanghai, 'in China government proceeds from the bottom up. In Japan it proceeds from the top down.' The Japanese don't see this difference between China and twenty of the other forty-nine, don't see it. But it is the fact. It is the fact, the biggest fact in the situation and will, some day settle whether what else you may need in this, that the people of China are the only real source of power here and they are going to get what they want. They may not get it right off the reel, but they will get it.

Certainly this agrees with everything I have seen and is the only key that will fit every part of the problem. If then it is true that the old China of tradition, the China that never changed, China the hard-baked product of centuries of one habit of thought, if that China is dissolving and a new China is taking its place I should think that gentlemen like those of Great Britain who count on the permanent return of monarchy and the good old days of privilege might be in for a jolt.

As to this we may now profitably consider a few facts like these.

1 It has always been said of these Chinese people that they would not work together, had no sense of cohesion or cooperation, had not faculty for united action, so that you could kick them in the face at Hong Kong or Wei-hai-wei or Shantung and none of the rest of them would care a rap.

Everybody said this everybody believed it, and doubtless the same notion was strong upon Japan when it presented twenty-one demands which were as hard a kick in the face as any nation every endured.

The flaccid or crooked Chinese administration received it with meekness and when Japan, pistol in hand, said 'sign on the dotted line,' signed with readiness and dispatch. But will you kindly observe what the people did about it? They didn't recognize any of this bunk but of their own motion and without leadership, without even any advice or suggestion from their press, they started the word and passed it around to boycott Japanese goods, and the next thing Japan knew it couldn't sell five cents worth of anything anywhere in China. Japanese merchants and exporters were caught with millions of dollars worth of stuff they could do nothing with. People would not have it for a gift.

The movement swept all China, swept it with a swiftness that considering the poor means of communication seems astounding. No matter how much folks might be divided about north and south they were of one mind about this. Japan complained and protested and the administration ordered under heavy penalties the removal of the notices "boycott Japanese goods" that adorned so many walls. Forthwith (in some places) under the eyes of the police, down came the notices. But they were succeeded by others that read 'Boycott inferior goods'' which to the Chinese mind meant exactly the same thing. On went the boycott exactly as before and was one of the causes of the business panic that hit Japan so hard last fall.

If there were anything better settled than another about the Chinese it was that they could not exist without gambling. The Chinese character demanded it, the Chinese government had always legitimized it. But one of the first things the new government at Canton did was to close all the gambling houses and there is now no public gambling in Canton. Even that great and famous house on the river front, so long familiar in the sight of visitors by river—closed tight as a safe and boarded up as a photograph in my possession attests. Some nerve was required for this reform because the government receipts from the gambling houses were goodly and the iniquities of former administrations had left the cash box empty. But the houses were closed, nevertheless, and remain closed and the people approved.

3 One of the innovations in Canton is an excellent street railroad system. Imagine street cars in Rabbit Warren Canton, you globe-trotter of other days! After a time, women were employed as conductors and in other capacities and successfully. While I was in Canton one of the incidents of a day was the appearance of all the women conductors and the rest in a body before the office of the company with a demand for an eight-hour day and some other concessions. And when they were argued with about this, they said well, that was what their working sisters in other countries of the world were getting and what they were going to have in Canton.

Can we really bank very far on an unchanging China if this is the fact?

4 When the school teachers struck the other day against the northern government they struck not in one place but in all places and not pullily-haulily but all together. We have even had instances of the strikes of pupils supported by their parents and spreading by some magic free masonry impossible without the sense of solidarity.

5 Canton is not the only Chinese city that is undergoing transformation. At Foochow and Shanghai and elsewhere you will see demonstrations of the same purpose. From a strictly artistic point of view new Foochow has even surpassed new Canton. And will you look at the changes in Peking itself in the last fifteen years!

6 The Peking administration has been trying to get up some kind of an election for its so-called parliament. Somebody or somebodies in the mass of the people (no leader, no preconcert) felt that this election would be fraudulent and insignificant and started the idea that it should be boycotted. I think it a fact of utmost moment that the people considered this suggestion found it good and are now carrying it out to the consternation of the government, which has been trying to save its face by postponing the date of the voting and putting forth every effort to get out the voters. It may well be alarmed, the outsider, anyway, will think that nothing could be more ominous.

7 It used to be said that the Chinese had no national feeling, the only place you ever saw a Chinese flag was on a government vessel or building and most of the people did not know there was such a thing. Today you can see the flag of the Republic floating over thousands of dwellings and stores in city, town and village. You can even hear an occasional band experimenting with the new national hymn.

8 All this time Wu Pei-fu is slowly gathering his democratic army in Hunan, his army of students, for while he teaches them arms he teaches them no less the history and theory of democracy and the rudiments of an education. In view of many this is the coming man of north China and apparently the people are turning toward him as their eventual leader. Please note that he is the sternest democrat in China.

9 Back of everything else is the steady pressure of the American idea for, as I told you before, it is America that has inspired all this. In every Chinese city the students returned from American universities and ardent with new ideals are the core and nucleus of an indomitable progressivism. But beyond even their ceaseless activities and influence towers to the Chinese mind the example of one nation which has never exploited China, has stolen no Chinese territory, worked no swindling railroad concessions here, played no tricks, tried to sell no opium and is at the same time a nation where the government is the will of the people. It is the power of these ideas that has made what there is of new China and I can see no reason to think it will stop where it is, having the more faith in it when I stop to remember the character and worth of the people on whom it is working.

Therefore, the present day conditions may be as bad as the worst representation of them, they are after all only superficial the froth and ferment boiling to the top. There never was a revolution on earth that was not followed by these manifestations. Nor one in which they did not subside into the ways of rational progress. Nor one that went backward.

It will be so in Russia it will be so in China, it will be so everywhere in the good time of inevitable processes.

BURKBURNETT FAMILY EN ROUTE TO ARKANSAS IN "GASOLINE PULLMAN"

In a Ford truck that had been converted ingeniously into a gasoline Pullman, Mr and Mrs H E Draper and two children of Burkburnett passed through Wichita Falls Wednesday morning en route to Beaumont, from which place they will go to Arkansas.

The body of the car was constructed sufficiently large to accommodate beds cross wise and leave sufficient room for baggage and impedimenta. A small tent was taken for use as a cook tent but the car is so equipped that the family can live comfortably in it and be entirely independent of railroads and hotels.

When the youngest member of the family was asked by a reporter where he was bound his reply was 'Arkansas—now laugh.'

LAST WORD IN MODERN SCIENCE IS VITAMINES

SECRET OF CHILD GROWTH DISCOVERED AT LAST.

Being a housekeeper and a mother these days means keeping up with a fast-moving procession. Hardly a week passes but that some important discovery is made in the realm of housekeeping.

The most recent of these discoveries is 'vitamines' the name given to the growth-producing property of some foods. This word which is fast becoming common to the households of America was entirely unknown to even the leaders of food research of only a few years ago.

Time was when all food values were given in calories the unit of measurement of the fuel value. Then came division into proteins carbohydrates fats and mineral salts with much emphasis placed on the first two and very little on the last probably for the reason that so little was known.

Even this knowledge was incomplete. A diet that was complete in all of these particulars was often unsatisfactory so far as growth promotion was concerned. Almost by accident it was discovered that there was a difference in fats—that some fats caused growth while others of the same calorie value had no growth effect whatever.

Vitamines was the name given to this growth promoting property. The property is found in only a few foods and the most important of the vitamines is found only in butter fat and the yellow parts of eggs.

Creamery butter then suggested by the housekeeper for its purity and flavor becomes her business in providing for the best health of her family. This is true especially of children, for it has been definitely proven that without this vitamine food no child can attain its normal growth.

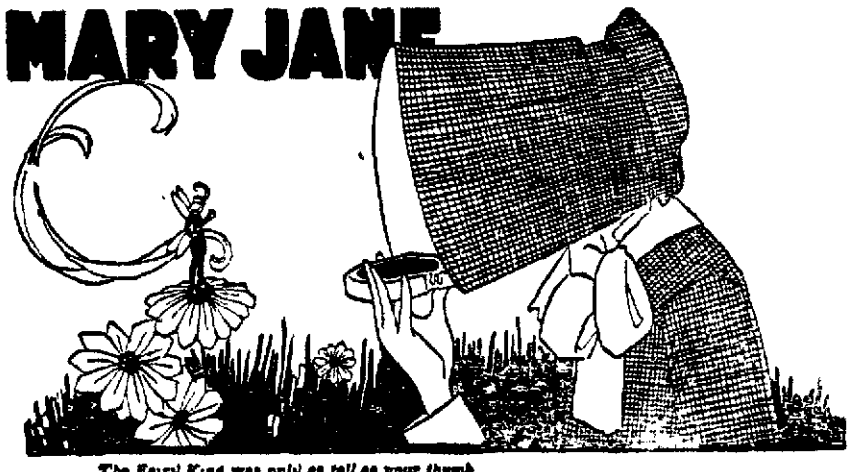
THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE



The Fairy King was only as tall as your thumb but he had a good appetite

Mary Jane and the Fairy King

ONE day Mary Jane met the Fairy King in the Forest. The Fairy King was only as tall as your thumb. But he had a very good appetite, and he was always hungry.

So he said to Mary, "Did you bring anything good to eat with you?" And Mary said, "I've got a lovely spread of bread with some de-li-cious Mary Jane Syrup on it, that my mamma gave me for my lunch."

The Fairy King said, "Well, why didn't you say so before? You know that Mary Jane Syrup is what we fairies always serve at our banquets, when we want something es-pe-cial-ly good."

So Mary brought out her bread with Mary Jane Syrup on it. And they sat and ate, and talked about ships and sealing wax, and cabbages and kings until it was time for Mary to go home.

Then the Fairy King gave Mary a great, big diamond that he found on a rose leaf that very morning. Mary had the diamond mounted in a ring. And she's wearing it to this very day, in memory of the Fairy King, and the Mary Jane Syrup they enjoyed so much that afternoon of the long ago, when the heart of a child thrilled to the magic of a fairy's kingly gift.

Mrs McCormick's BEAUTY CREAM

LATEST STYLE

By LENORE

Reminiscent of country gardens are the exquisitely colored organdie frocks to tempt young Eves. Soft shades of rose are particularly good just now, as are lilac and buttercup yellow—and hydrangea blue, a delightfully cool-looking summer shade, is also being shown a great deal.

Among these models the quaint pointed basque and wide bouffant skirt prevail, with self-bound scalloped folds or scalloped hem, which is newer than ruffles; and charming effects are gained by French ribbon bows and flower trimmings—a long stemmed American Beauty rose holds proudly to a delicate lilac frock; a cream puffy affair of white organdie is distractingly pretty with a spray of red, yellow and blue field flowers; and a huge bouquet of wistaria with rosebuds makes a super frock out of a shell pink organdie model.

Another charming effect is shown in the sketch, lilac, with French blue ribbon and sprays of rosebuds. Two sleeves are better than one, thought this frock, and there is a double bodice too, with self-binding at all the edges.

PATTERN NO. 176

A pattern for the above model (No. 176) can be obtained in sizes 34, 36, 38 or 40, by sending to Lenore, 3 West Fortieth street, New York City, your name and address, number of this pattern and the size required, and 25 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks.—The Editor.

BEAUTIFUL PARTY FOR WINNING CONTESTANTS

Members of Mission Circle One of the Floral Heights Methodist church were the honor guests at a very beautifully planned and most enjoyable entertainment Tuesday afternoon at the church, when members of Circle Two paid the promised forfeit for losing a recent contest.

The party was given in the parlors of the handsome new church building, and a color scheme of pink and green furnished occasion for the massing of pink roses, potted plants, ferns and nasturtiums in a very lovely background. The visitors were welcomed at the door by Mrs. Marvin Smith, and greeted in turn by all of the members of Circle Two, who formed an informal receiving line. When most of them had arrived they were invited into the main auditorium upstairs, where a most attractive program was given. A very pretty feature of the program came during an intermission, when Mrs. S. E. Trevathan paid a tribute of appreciation to Mrs. Nichols for her work as organist of the church, and presented her with a corsage of sweet peas and carnations. Immediately Mrs. Marvin Smith followed with a tribute to Mrs. Mary B. Adams, whose work with the choir has been so especially successful, and presented her with a similar corsage, and Mrs. M. E. Crowell, chairman of Circle Two, made an appreciative talk of Mrs. Boone's work as chairman of Circle One, and presented her also with a flower. All three ladies responded very gracefully. The program included a piano solo by Mrs. L. D. Fritz, a song by Mrs. Adams, a reading by Mrs. Porter Oakes, and several organ selections by Mrs. Nichols. The program was given under the direction of Mrs. William L. Reedes.

Late in the evening a delightful two course luncheon of chicken salad and ice tea, mints, pink and green brick cream and angel food cake was served to about a hundred hostesses and guests. Those who registered included: Mesdames Flora Billingsley, F. C. Elkins, Mart Roberts, S. T. Coffield, M. E. Roberts, Charles Crowell, L. E. Cowling, Mary Dickinson, D. T. Tranor, H. R. Hanks, M. J. Everyday looks alike to me and Jubilee now. We could have lots of more time to chase cats and play ball and everything if it was not for taking the cows to the pasture and bringing them back home every day. There is always something.

When we had got out to the pasture today we found that all of the mud had been washed out from between the stones in our damn, so the water would not have been up to our knees if we had of wanted to go in swimming, and Banty said less learn our dogs to ride bareback so that the first circus that come we could mebby hire out all of our dogs to them and we would travel in a private car to take care of them, because no dog could stay on a bare back if a flea was biting them any more than a human bean could.

It was my horse and I said that Jubilee ought by rights to be the first to learn, but Banty said it was his idee so he thought his dog ought to have the first chance at it, and all the bunch said that was so, so I told them I would not rent Jubilee out to a circus anyhow.

They got the rope off of Peanutses cow and tied it around the horse's neck and run it through his dog's collar and stood him up on the horse's back and made a hitch around his waist with the rope and tied the other end of it to the horse's tail. The poor little bugger was shaking so that he dug his toes into the horse's back, and when we let go of him he began to kick and the dog began to ki-yi and fell off of his back and hung down by his side, and then the horse ran away and went around and around the pasture and jumped the crick each time he came to it, and by the time he got tired and we got him in a corner we thought Banty's dog was dead.

Banty held him in his arms and cried, and we all felt mad. We got a piece of board and dug him a grave by the side of the creek so he would hear it sing to him and we was all busy watching Banty dig and pretty soon one of our dogs thought we was digging for a mush-rat and he jumped down in the hole and started to help us dig—and it was Banty's dog! The little bugger had only fainted.

We was sure glad, and we was talking about it on the way to the back of the poor house to go swimming so that Peanuts did not see a rock and he

"Through an anonymous gift of $25,000, the benefaction of an American business man impressed with the splendid work being accomplished by the Red Cross for the needy children of Europe, the Junior American Red Cross has been enabled to purchase and present to the Bakule School for crippled children, in Prague, a villa which will serve as a school building and dormitory for that institution. The villa is located on the hills overlooking the capital of Czecho-Slovakia and is a far cry from the few, crowded rooms in which the crippled children worked and studied when they were discovered by the Junior American Red Cross.

"Adjoining the villa is an orchard and tract of ground which will be the site of a workshop to be erected by the government and a tent-city for a summer colony of war orphans gathered up off the streets of Prague. A year ago the pupils of the Bakule school invited more than 700 of these children to come into the school in the afternoons to learn trades which will render them self-supporting. The boys of the school are their teachers. It is these waifs from the streets who will be given outings in the Red Cross tent-city at the Bakule school this sum-

Women May Decide Install Playground Equipment at Club

Women members of the Golf and Country club may plan to install playground equipment at the club for the children, following a meeting of the playground committee at the club Thursday morning.

A discussion of the play equipment matter took up considerable time at the Tuesday morning business meeting of the women's auxiliary of the club, when several other matters of business also came up for consideration of the members. Among these was the election of officers for the women's auxiliary, in which Mrs. Fred Couper was re-elected chairman and Mrs. H. Finley Weldon re-elected secretary-treasurer. The president named Mrs. A. H. Britain chairman of the committee, which will meet at 9:30 Thursday morning at the club to consider the play equipment matter.

The auxiliary also made tentative plans for a party to be given next Tuesday evening at the club. Details of the party, however, will be worked out by the new entertainment committee, the personnel of which has not yet been completed.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOW NUMBERS SIXTY MEMBERS

The Woman's Auxiliary to the American Legion now numbers 60 members according to a report Wednesday after the Tuesday business meeting at the Citadel.

The principal business at the Tuesday meeting was a discussion of the membership plans, co-operation with the Legion in a celebration of July 4th, assisting the Legion in furnishing the club rooms, which the men are now working on and expect to complete by the first of next week, and distribution of the Auxiliary pins which came Monday. In connection with the pins, which are little blue enameled circles with blue star and gold rim, the Wichita Falls membership receives them as the gift of Mrs. Carrigan, chairman of the auxiliary. More pins have been ordered.

At Tuesday's meeting it was reported that the auxiliary has on hand $130 to be sent to the soldier hospitals from the local chapter, representing the proceeds from the poppy sale. Fifty dollars of the proceeds received from the sale of the Franco-American fund pins for wounded French soldiers have already been sent in by the Legion. Mrs. Joe Hatchitt, vice-chairman of the auxiliary, gave $5 on the fund, and a note with $1 from Mrs. T. B. Hicks of Burkburnett was reported for the poppy.

It is expected that the charter membership will close this week.

J. WILKIE TALBERT PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT AD CLUB LUNCH

J Wilkie Talbert, vice-president of the Wichita Falls Building & Loan association, was the principal speaker at Wednesday's luncheon of the Wichita Falls Ad club. Mr Talbert discussed some of the advertising problems the association has encountered declaring that newspaper advertising had proven most effective, and circular advertising next.

Discussing the growth of the building and loan idea, Mr Talbert said that there are now 8,000 such associations in the country with 6,000,000 members and $2,500,000,000 in business on their books. The use of advertising in explaining the purpose of the organization to the public was discussed by Mr Talbert, who said that the idea was comparatively new in the southwest and that educational work was needed.

It was the final luncheon of the club until fall, the members deciding not to attempt to continue the luncheons during the warm weather Several members of the graduating class of St Mary's attended the luncheon, and one of them, Miss Allman, gave a very enjoyable reading

"ADAM, MOSES, CHRIST" IS SUBJECT OF LECTURE BY J. C. O'HAIR TUESDAY NIGHT

The following announcement has been received

In spite of the warm weather, the increased attendance at Central Presbyterian church Tuesday night found the room very comfortable and thoroughly appreciated the very interesting lesson. It is predicted that many here will realize too late this most wonderful opportunity to see the Bible unfolded in an unusually attractive and instructive manner Evangelist O'Hair has packed some of the largest buildings in the north and some of those attending here state they have never seen the Bible made so plain and interesting

The message which will be delivered tomorrow—Thursday night 'The League of Nations in the Light of the Bible'—was first delivered and published by Mr O'Hair in New York City and has been heard by thousands Wednesday night Mr O'Hair will show that while there are 1 000 religions in the world, yet all religions started with Cain and Abel—and today every religion is the 'Cain' or "Abel" religion, a few of them being a mixture of the two.

In dealing with Adam, Moses and Christ Mr. O'Hair showed that by Adam was the entrance of sin by Moses the knowledge of sin, by Christ the forgiveness of sin The solo of R E Shepherd was appreciated by all

Mr O'Hair's work has been strictly interdenominational and holds the highest endorsements of Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, north and south

The bitulithic company Tuesday started putting in the foundation for the continuation of the Ninth street paving, and expects to start the surfacing within a short time. This pavement will connect up the western end of Ninth with the paving on Denver

Work continues on the Grant street project, which will be completed save for the Avenue F crossing within a few days The crossing will not be paved until the big water main has been laid

Paving of four blocks on Collins is now actively under way and the concrete is being laid Work on the south end of Ohio has been completed except for those portions held up by lawsuits

DOWNTOWN WHITE WAY TO BE EXTENDED SOON ANOTHER BLOCK ON SCOTT

Material is being assembled for extending the downtown "white way" to Sixth street on Scott and work will start shortly Owing to the fact that the street is wider beween Sixth and Seventh than at other points, the ornamental posts will be set out in the street and protected from traffic by guard rails.

When his block is completed, Scott avenue will have a "white way" for 19 blocks, the longest stretch in the city.

MARBLE HALLS FOR SENATORS; COLD SHOULDER FOR SCRIBES

By L C MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 1—The rights privileges and freedom of the press in the senate wing of the capitol seem likely to become the subjects of a vigorous discussion in the open senate ere long

The news gatherers who keep the American public informed of the doings in the upper house of congress are hoping to bring about this open discussion of their case Understanding as they do the power of publicity they hope by getting their grievances aired to win public support

When the Harding administration came into power, the first executive order opened the white house gates closed for years From then on, the executive departments extended a broader freedom to the public and the public representatives, the newspaper men While this gratifying change was going on in uptown Washington the process was reversed by the republican majority in the senate

An order was issued by the rules committee barring newspaper men and the public from the corridor opening off the senate chamber to the west This, it was explained was to insure senators privacy in the use of the Marble room, a spacious apartment paralelling the corridor and opening to a balcony or portico overlooking the grounds of the capitol The corridor at once became part of the senate floor but even more sacrosanct than the floor itself, for those correspondents who have floor privileges were not permitted to enter the senate chamber via the corridor

Couches were installed in the Marble room and the corridor Tables were set upon the portico, where senators might like to lunch Screens at both ends of the corridor kept the public gaze from intruding

The correspondents used that corridor to meet senators More news was gathered there every day than any other place in the senate wing or in the senate office building I was a convenient place to catch senators who would otherwise have to be pursued all over the capitol and office building

Now claim the reporters their work has been rendered doubly difficult and has been slowed up greatly They must send in cards from the end of the corridor and any senator who wishes may 'dodge' an interviewer very easily

After a mass meeting of protest the correspondents put the matter up to the rules committee stressing the point that they had done nothing to warrant curtailment of their long standing rights and privileges, and hinting that senators would harm themselves more in the end than they would harm the newspapers The matter is still in abeyance before the committee, with a strong prospect that several 'compromises' will be suggested to the correspondents These are likely to be rejected, as the reporters feel they should not, as a matter of principle, yield anything they once had in the way of privileges. Then the matter may come up on the floor and be threshed out there

RATE REDUCTIONS NEXT.

If the reduction ordered in the wages of railway workers is followed by a substantial reduction in freight rates, it will prove a great stimulant to industry all over the country, many observers believe

The high freight rates now in effect are a brake upon industry, and indeed have forced some industries out of business altogether. The farmer, the manufacturer and the merchant alike are finding the present rates burdensome and they have brought industry to a standstill in some sections of the country.

Lower freight rates ought to result in larger freight movements and thereby give employment to many railroad workers who are now out of jobs so that the reduction in wages will be a benefit to railway workers as a whole.

There is practical certainty that the railroads will voluntarily reduce rates as soon as wages are reduced. Self interest will induce such a course and there is virtual understanding with the railroad managers that they will reduce rates when wages are lowered.

WILL THEY NEWBERRYIZE TEXAS?

R. B. Creagor, republican state chairman for Texas, in a meeting of republican workers at Fort Worth Tuesday announced that he would attempt to raise $200,000 to carry on the party's work in Texas. Two hundred thousand dollars is a neat little sum and is more even than the republican party spends in many of the doubtful states The expenditure of such a large sum in a Texas company is a step toward Newberrizing Texas. If money is to be used so prodigally then it is time indeed that we begin to look to our election laws.

Editorial Echoes

Future of the League of Nations.
(Dallas News)

Whether the League of Nations is destined to remain a weak or become a strong force for the preservation of peace is doubtless as much of a question now as it was when the people of this country decreed that the United States should not become a member of it, assuming that that was their intent and that their verdict will have that effect immutably The answer to that question is as inscrutable now as it was six months ago. But another question with respect to the League of Nations, which was also much debated at that time, received a pretty definite answer since then It has become pretty evident to most men that at least the League of Nations will continue to live. It has come to be seen that while the refusal of the United States to join it may have the effect of greatly debilitating it, and perhaps even of preventing it from becoming a very effective force in compelling the peaceful settlement of international controversies, it can not have the effect of causing its abandonment.

Lord Robert Cecil's statement that it would be insanity for Europe to allow the League of Nations to disintegrate is the opinion of one of its most zealous champions, to be sure. He is as much the protagonist of it in Europe as Mr. Wilson is in this country Nevertheless, other statesmen of Europe whose minds are under none of the personal prepossession that this may be have expressed the same opinion no less emphatically. The most chauvinistic statesmen of France, for instance, of whom M Poincare is an example, have declared that however much the League of Nations may have been enfeebled by the refusal of the United States to join it its continued existence is nevertheless indispensable They hold this view if it chiefly because there are hundreds of provisions in the peace treaty many of which will be in process of fulfillment for generations, of which the League of Nations is administrator Their view is that if it did not exist, it or its equivalent would have to be created, and this even though there should be no work for it to do other than that of interpreting and enforcing the terms of the war settlement

Even without the United States, Germany and Russia, the League of Nations, as Lord Robert Cecil says includes three-fourths of the world's population and perhaps an equal percentage of its wealth. If eventually Germany and Russia should become members of it as the likelihood is that they will if meantime it should prove itself to be a useful agency, it will speak for practically all the people of the earth save those of the United States In that case, the United States might endure that isolation, and even regard it as preferable to association with the other nations of the earth on the terms it offers That is at least conceivable, however improbable it must seem to all reasoning men But that an organization made up of such an overwhelming preponderance of moral and material power would languish and expire for the lack of the United States' support can hardly be thought a rational prophecy by any man.

Others Besides Bergdoll.
(Houston Chronicle)

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's property, amounting to nearly a million dollars, has been seized by order of President Harding

The country is grateful to the president for issuing such an order.

It should have been issued many months ago

But for this vast sum of money, lying around to tempt susceptible attorneys the country would have been spared such a stench

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll is a coward and a squealer, but he never could have become the nuisance he was without the dear thought aid of don't-give-a-damn - belong - as - we-get - the-money lawyers

His mother says that she has paid out $50,000 to these birds' not in connection with his defense, but for all kinds of tricks were to get him out after he was convicted

Who was it that placed that silly story about the pot of gold before the war department, and by what influence was the department made to fall for such rot?

Suppose he had buried a pot of gold. Wasn't there enough left in his beer securities?

What excuse was there to let a millionaire out to dig up an extra $100,000.

If Bergdoll had been a poor man, no such preposterous excuse could have been framed and put over.

It couldn't have been framed and put over, under any circumstances, if two or three lawyers hadn't been willing to kick their consciences under the table for a few dollars.

Taken by and large, the Bergdoll case is about the most putrid thing ever exposed in American history, and the principal offender, bad as he may be, is not wholly to blame.

Every attorney connected with this affair ought to be disbarred and expatriated.

The man who allowed the Bergdolls to get their clutches on so much gold, while the rest of the country was being commanded to give it up, ought to be disciplined.

Those war department officials who granted Bergdoll parole on such a ridiculous pretext ought to be dismissed

It will do no good to perform a half-way job in this most disgraceful affair.

Bergdoll should be punished to the limit of this country's ability, of course, but so should everybody else who contributed, whether through intent or incompetency, to his escape.

WHY?—

Is "Banting" a Synonym for "Dieting?"

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

When, in 1863, William Banting, a distinctly corpulent upholsterer of London, decided that he was getting much too fat, and made a resolution to refrain from sweets, potatoes, bread and meat, except in small quantities, he probably had not the slightest idea that he was introducing a new word into the English language. Banting's system of dieting was nothing new. It was merely based upon the recommendations of a number of physicians that an elimination of starchy foods would tend to reduce his weight by preventing the addition of more fat and by lessening the fatty tissues already present. But it was not long before Banting found that he had lost twenty pounds, then forty, and finally, more than eighty.

So amazed were his acquaintances by the change which had come over the merchant—a change which was me.. al as well as physical, because the reduction in his weight made him more alert and vigorous that they insisted that he tell them the "secret." Soon it became noised all over London that if one were too fat, the thing to do was to follow the "Banting system," which, in the course of time, was shortened to "Banting," and finally the capital letter was dropped and the word admitted to the English language—though the majority of dictionaries insist upon referring to it as "Bantinglism," and declare that the verb "to bant," though commonly used, had no foundation whatever.

Fishing Trip Talks.

These fishin' jaunts we used to take
were more than fishin' trips.
It seems to me they brought to us our best companionships.
An' whether we had luck or not, was fishin' good or bad,
We found delight an' pleasure the good old talks we had.
We went to catch some fish, of course,
but always night an' day
We'd come to know each other in a bigger, broader way

I mind one time we sat out there an'
never got a bite
An' yet before we knew it, it was comin' on to night,
We'd simply talked the day away, discussin' various things,
Religion, an' the ways of men, an'
European kings.
The purpose of birth an' death, jes' laying ourselves bare
The way we never would at home, or maybe wouldn't dare.

You get a bunch together in some
fishin' shack at night,
An' you'll hear some real high thinkin'
by the oil lamp's flickering light.
An' you sit all day with someone underneath the open sky,
With God's wonders all around you an'
the waters ripplin' by,
An' you'll find yourselves both talkin'
in a confidential streak
Of the things you think in silence
which you very seldom speak.

Those fishin' jaunts we used to take meant more than catchin' bass,
An' whether luck was good or bad, the house would swiftly pass;
We grew to know each other, for we talked of matters then
That we'd very seldom mention to the common run of men;
We flung our souls wide open in those close companionships
Which only seem to come to men who go on fishin' trips.

HUMANISMS

Inner Lights on Lives and Whims of Personages in the Public Eye

By WILLIAM ATHERTON DU PUY.

Joseph P. Tumulty tells an unusual and tragic story of the circumstances which led up to the presence of Elbert Hubbard, the sage of East Aurora, on the Lusitania when she was sunk off the Irish coast.

Mr. Hubbard came to see the secretary to the president at the white house He just must go abroad. To go he must have a passport.

Mr. Tumulty admonished him of the dangers of the trip, but he brushed them aside indifferently.

"All right," said Mr. Tumulty. will get you a passport."

"You can't," said Mr. Hubbard.

"Why not?" asked Mr. Tumulty.

"I have a criminal record," said the sage. "I have done time."

It developed that this was a fact, but that it was merely an incident to the publication of a journal which slashed right and left and sometimes got its responsible head into trouble.

So Mr. Tumulty consulted with the attorney general, who prepared a pardon, which was signed by the president of the United States. Thus did men in high places play unsuspecting parts in sending Mr. Hubbard to his death.

The steps of the state department on the white house side run up for a long flight, and while we stood there and gossiped in the sun a man came hurrying out of the basement below and bustled along the roadway followed by the trucks that deliver supplies.

It was Secretary Hughes going over for a conference with the president.

We noted his dark business suit, somewhat wrinkled from service; the soft hat inclined to slouch, the comfortable laced shoes. They looked like a business man's working clothes. We took in the stature of this man in middle life. Five feet ten we guessed him. A big man from the European standpoint. He was also a solid man about the shoulders, a man of bulk. He swung along in the confidence of good health, the joy of physical well-being. There was a great forward sweep in the vary way of him.

"Looks to me like a real American," said my companion.

Senator Ralph Cameron says that things are changing down in Arizona where he comes from. Despite the dry and arid reputation of that state, they are actually herding cattle in motorboats down there now.

The reclamation service, you will remember, put the Roosevelt dam across a canyon and created a lake fifty miles long. It was right in the heart of the cattle country and the arms of it backed up into many canyons.

The ranch owners found it convenient to go from place to place in motor boats. They would carry the salt for their cattle around and in this way distribute it. The cattle came to know that they were to get salt when the motorboat came, so now they listen for it and when they hear its stuttering put-put-put they turn their tails gracefully over their backs and gallop down to the water's edge.

The History of Your Name

ALLEN.

Variations—Allen, Alan, Allis, Allwyn.
Racial Origin—Scottish.
Source—A Clan.

As a family name, Allen and its variations are the outgrowth of the clan organization of Scotland, and like most names of the Scottish and Irish divisions of the Celtic race, can so be traced back to a single individual. This, of course, is no infallible guarantee of blood, however, for in both ancient Scotland and ancient Ireland it was customary for outsiders who became followers of the chief and were adopted into the clan to take the clan name.

There are many branches of the Allen line today, but virtually all of them trace back to Alan, a count of Brittany, who crossed to England with William the Conqueror and obtained grants of land in Scotland. It was a descendant of this Alan also who founded the Stuart line, which later became the royal family of Great Britain

As a given name, the origin of Alan is lost in obscurity. It may have been taken over from the classical languages before Christ. Theoretical attemps have been made to trace it back to the mythical Greek poet Olen, credited in the classical legends with having been the first to write hymns in hexameter. It is certain that it was in use among the Celts of northern Europe in the forms of Alawn, Alwn and Ailwyn before the Roman empire extended its way to those parts, for it was taken into the Latin in the form of Elian.

But there is no indication that it developed into a family name in any other land than Scotland

COLORS.

Colors are wat keeps things from all looking the same on the outside. The way to make a color is by mixing 2 other colors, the cheef thing being to know wich 2 to mix.

A good way to give variety to a meel is by eating diffrent colored things For instants a good meel is as follows: red ketchip, wite potatoes, brown meet, yellow butter and black pepper. Another good meel is wite horse reddish, green pickles, pink meet, brown mustard, blue plums and yello ice cream.

Peeples hair is a diffrent color from the rest of them to keep them from looking monotoniss but each persins hair is genrely all [illegible] color instead of being 2 color [illegible] red and black to keep them from looking too assorted. Dogs hair is offen 2 colors in case of spots.

Wen a lady thinks she has the rong color hair she is libel to die it the opposite color thinking maybe people wont notice it, ony they do jest the same on account of so meny of them having saw her the day before.

One of the most conspicuous colors is red. The diffrents between most peeple and most bulls is that most bulls get mad if you go up and wave a red rag in frunt of their face, wile most peeple would get mad if you went up and waved eny color rag in frunt of their face. Meny ladies like the genrel color of red and go erround with red dresses on, proving its a good thing bulls are scarce.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY IS IN SESSION AT QUANAH

QUANAH, TEXAS, June 1—The eleventh annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Northwest Texas conference is in session at the Methodist church. About 250 visitors are in attendance, each representing the ladies of her church. This is an annual get-together meeting for exchange of ideas and for the transaction of business, the general theme for discussion being "Education and Missions."

Saturday afternoon was given over to devotional services and the assignment of homes for the delegates. At the evening service Judge C. Y. Welch delivered a welcome address to which Mrs. D. L. Stephens responded.

The annual sermon by Rev. J. W. Hunt Sunday morning and the memorial service was of unusual interest, being conducted entirely by the ladies The conference president, Mrs. N. G. Rollins of Abilene, introduced Mrs H. R. Steele of Chattanooga, Tenn., who spoke for 30 minutes on Christian education. At the close of the service two young people expressed a determination to give their lives to the work of the church.

Members of all the churches have opened their homes to entertain the visitors. However, most of them eat two meals daily in the basement of the church, where cafeteria lunch is served.

General business sessions will be held Tuesday and Wednesday. Annual report will be made, a meeting place for 1922 decided upon and officers elected

WASHINGTON, June 1—The house judiciary committee agreed today to report out the Volstead bill which would prohibit sale of beer on physicians' prescriptions for use by the sick

As approved the bill also would make the Volstead enforcement act apply to Hawaii and the Virgin islands, but not to the Philippines Other provisions included a tightening up clause to prohibit importation of liquors until the present stock held under government supervision has been exhausted Chairman Volstead was directed to endeavor to have it called up for passage by the house immediately

EARLY REORGANIZATION OF PROHIBITION FORCES

WASHINGTON June 1—Early and complete reorganization of the federal prohibition unit is planned by the internal revenue bureau Commissioner Blair announced today with more efficient and less costly administration as the object

The commissioner indicated that he had under consideration putting federal prohibition supervisors in each state to replace the present departments comprising several states.

While the commissioner was noncommittal on the question of the proposed transfer of the prohibition enforcement to the justice department the impression was gained that he thought prohibition enforcement belonged more properly under the attorney general

Mr Blair said he had not had time to take up beer regulations

8 JURORS TAKEN IN MURDER TRIAL

Careful Selection of Jury Takes Up Greater Part of Day in District Court.

At 4:00 o'clock this afternoon when the special venire panel was exhausted, Judge Martin ordered 50 more names drawn from the jury wheel. The jurors are to report at 9:00 o'clock Thursday morning. A total of eight jurors had been selected. The last two were J. M. Beales and S. I. McKinney, Court recessed until Thursday at 9:00 o'clock.

By 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon six jurors had been selected in the murder trial of A C Carpenter, who is charged with the slaying of Jack Hollingsworth Both state and defense are carefully examining each talesman who takes the stand

The state had challenged seven jurors for peremptory reasons while the defense had asked nine to be excused

It was apparent late Wednesday afternoon that it would be necessary to secure more jurors and the defense asked that the names be taken from the jury wheel rather than have the sheriff pick up talesmen

Education—Its Relation to Citizenship

The winning essay out of about forty submitted in the Knights of Pythias "Citizenship" contest is printed below it was submitted by Miss Agnes Morton, a high school student the subject being 'Education—Its Relation to Citizenship"

Education—Its Relation to Citizenship

In this enlightened United States of ours, we have the widest range of freedom of any country in the world For this reason it is hard for us to conceive of a country in which it is necessary and altogether desirable that the people the citizens who ought to be the ruling power of the nation should be kept entirely ignorant of the affairs of government This situation nevertheless is one in which a number of the supposedly civilized countries of today are placed In such countries it is necessary to keep the people ignorant in order that they may not understand fully how badly they are ruled In time of course the people will assert themselves their ignorance will lead to revolution to unnecessary bloodshed and to still worse government. Such a country is not only in danger of a day of reckoning but it loses all of the economic and social progress which would have been brought to it by educated citizens

In a country such as ours, it is necessary that all the people be educated to the highest point of efficiency because the people are the ruling power and if the government is to be both wise and good the ruling power must be an able one In a country of freedom such as this and in a country where there is such a wide range of appeals there is always much individuality among the poorer classes as well as among the more wealthy ones It will readily be seen therefore that if the nation is to have the best minds of the country at her head, every child must be given an equal chance lest some great genius be forever buried in poverty and obscurity It has been said and rightfully by Thomas Gray in one of the most well known of English poems that

"Full many a gem of purest ray serene
The dark unfathomed caves of ocean bear
Full many a flower is born to blush unseen
And waste its sweetness on the desert air"

It is pathetic to think that some where everywhere in America there are children who if they were given the chance would one day bring a blessing to humanity as well as make a name worth while for themselves On the other hand it is no more than we can expect to suppose that even now there may be laid to rest in some little country churchyard a mute inglorious Milton or a Cromwell that would have made the world safer than ever for democracy

Our government wishing to correct this fault to the greatest extent possible has adopted the public schools as the best method by which every child may have the necessary chance and has enacted a compulsory school law by which every child between the ages of 7 and 16 inclusive, must attend some school for a certain number of months each year Although this law is not enforced strictly, it is observed generally and it does a great deal of good since many of the poorer children who are now attending school would otherwise be forced by unscrupulous guardians to go to work School is a preparation for citizenship Hence it will be seen that if a child does not attend school he cannot be expected to become the right kind of citizen This statement brings up the questions, 'What kind of citizens do we want' What sort of training does a citizen need' What are the duties of a citizen?

In reply, we would say that we want citizens who have the ability to think and study and analyze who know something of the world about them—and the ancients are often good masters in that capacity who know how to deal with their fellowmen and who know what to expect of themselves at all times

A citizen needs a general education if he is really to help manage a republic It is impossible that he should know much about so complicated a society as this nation if he is trained in only a single craft He cannot be a good citizen then because his knowledge is so limited and his comprehension so narrow that he would not be able to interpret his rights or duties correctly

This brings us to the question What are the duties of a citizen The first duty of any citizen is to know his obligations for if he is ignorant of a duty he probably will not do it The second general duty is consideration—consideration for others One of the most important of all the duties is obedience Even if one does not always believe that certain laws are good it is better to obey them because a poor law which is not enforced will remain on the statute books whereas people will soon demand the repeal of a bad law which is enforced and the enactment in its place of a better law Obedience however means far more than outward conformity to law whether that law is a law made by men or merely a natural law It means obedience to high personal standards and high civic ideals Thereby to obey in spirit as well as in letter one must be an honest intelligent citizen Otherwise the citizen fails in the most fundamental duty of all—patriotism

We know that character is the basis of citizenship It is therefore the duty of every citizen to build for himself a good character In doing this he is doing an inestimable service for society

Since a school education is an important means of learning our duties evidently there is an obligation resting upon the youthful citizen to make good use of the opportunity This obligation should be recognized by the parents of young children since the work in the school room is the only way in which the knowledge of a citizen's duties may be acquired When the young child starts to school he enters a world that has hitherto been unknown to him He has something of a responsibility placed upon him and for the first time he learns the meaning of regular attendance and of punctuality He gains his first real insight into cooperation and he learns that above all there must be obedience He learns the unwritten code of rights of the playground he learns consideration for others and that if he trampled upon their rights he must bear the consequences Thus we see that if the foundation for citizenship is laid correctly while one is young the citizens of the future can take care of themselves

It is in the high school however that the greatest training in citizenship is received Here while studying in the departments of history one realizes for the first time that a true citizen is not merely a receiver of favors and protection at the hands of the government but that he owes debts to his country and that there are obligations which can be paid only by knowing his politics thoroughly and by voting intelli*gently and every time that an opportu*nity presents itself There are many older people today who do not approve of a number of the government officials or of the manner in which government affairs are carried on and yet these persons very seldom go to the polls on election day It may be that the presidential elections get their votes, but none of the minor ones, which after all are not minor, are considered of sufficient importance to require their presence and it is because of this negligence that the people do not always get what they want today It is very probable that these persons are the ones who did not attend high school in the days of their youth and consequently they missed the training that would have made good citizens of themselves and that would have prevented injustice to society

As a proof of the good work that the schools are doing we might mention the success that has been met in the carrying on of numerous activities within the schools Never before in the history of our country have the high schools had such notice accorded them by men from big public concerns The public is taking a pleasurable interest in their affairs and is encouraging them along many lines of achievement Prominent magazines over the country are taking up the work of helping to instruct the school children in many things the chief of which is citizenship, The Literary Digest is particularly helpful on this subject as it contains every week an article especially designed for school use

High school is a preparation for entrance to college When we reflect upon the indispensable benefit to be derived from a high school education is it strange to consider what a wonderful vista of opportunity the thoughts of college presents to us' College is always appealing in different lights to different persons however To some it is a place where one goes to finish getting all his part of the fun before his share in the story of life begins To others it is merely the fulfillment of destiny college has always been planned for one and therefore one just naturally goes And there are others to whom college is a joint in the path that leads to the fulfillment of golden dreams For some of these latter persons it is not the easiest thing in the world to get started to college or to stay there after the start is made There are perhaps sacrifices to be made and sacrifices are sometimes hard unless one is very much accustomed to them Hardships are supposed to develop one's character and there is no doubt but that they do With this thought in mind we might draw the conclusion that the persons in the latter illustration would make the best citizens In all probability this would be quite right because the first ones were too careless and innocent of responsibility

There is an enemy to democratic civilization that the world in general has been fighting for many decades past This enemy is known as child labor and truly it is the highest obstacle to citizenship and the greatest menace to a democratic future that American civilization has ever known Herbert Hoover has given a great deal of his time to the study and the supply of the needs of the children of foreign lands but while doing this he has not forgotten the children at home and as a result of his investigations we learn that child labor is poisoning the springs of our nation at their source It is a sure thing that the country that allows child labor to take a deep root in the general run of affairs is building for future disaster in that it is stunting the physical growth and preventing the mental development of its oncoming generations thereby making of them mere machines and cog wheels of industry

There is a belief prevalent today among many circles that child labor is more a thing of the past than a hideous reality of the present These persons who are ignorant of the true state of affairs hold the idea that on account of our effective federal and state laws such an atrocity would be very near an impossibility Quite to the contrary however it is a fact that child labor is today on the increase According to a report from the national child labor committee for the first half of 1920 fourteen states reported an increase in child labor as against seven (including the District of Columbia) reporting a decrease' This situation is the kind that has no place in the future of a country like ours but from all appearances we have no present remedy and the thing is likely to go on indefinitely in this manner

There are two reasons besides the one already mentioned why child labor should not be allowed In the first place it causes unemployment among men who should be employed A factory can employ a large number of children for the amount of wages paid to a few men In the second place, it ruins the earning capacity of the child when he shall be no longer a child The child who goes to work at 14 has an earning capacity at 25 just half as great as the child who stays in school until he is 18 and the child who goes to work at 14 is twice as liable to sickness and disability as the child who stays in school In fact the loss to the *nation in health efficiency and happi*ness created by premature employment is incalculable

Another reason why it is requisite that children should attend school is the fact that since they are the citizens of tomorrow they should be inspired with the ideas of best American and thrilled with an appreciation of American deeds if they are to be the truest kind of citizens and the sort that know how to give to the utmost It is in the school room only that children may be prepared with the sacred trust of carrying forward into our future all that the nation has stood for and fought for in every war in which it has engaged

At the beginning of Uncle Sam's part in the late war it was found that large large numbers of the conscripted men were alarmingly deficient in even the fundamentals of education So great was the need for the man however, that a special war act was made to provide for the acceptance of illiterates and then schools were opened in all the camps in order to remedy this defect as speedily as possible

One might suppose that the greater number of these illiterates were foreign born persons who had immigrated to America Statistics point sternly to the fact that the immigrants were not wholly to blame and that the illiteracy was quite as easily perceptible in native born Americans Thus we see the extreme indispensability of a school education attached to the training of children Not only in time of peace when it is taken for granted it is all taking for granted that the citizens be educated but it is also desirable during a state of war and when a quick response to the call of the colors is needful

The work in the training camps was seen to be so invaluable during the war that it has been continued in many of the camps and besides working together with the foreign natives of this country are being duly trained for their situation of American citizens Quoting from the Literary Digest of March 26 1920 we may say that this work is one of the most practical and efficient activities in behalf of American citizenship that is being done within the borders of the nation

We cannot abstain from observing how much better it would have been if those men who are now engaged in stilling the primary germs had gone to school when they were children It is quite likely however that a large number of them were at work during that period of their lives and therefore their opportunity was not as big as it might have been In this respect we see that this is a very concrete example of the evils of child labor

An evil that we might add to those already mentioned is the seriousness of the accidents attendant upon child labor Between the ages of 13 and 16 children are at their most awkward age Hence the number of accidents is twice that with adults For this reason children of this age should not be allowed to work but they should have plenty of exercise and an occasional change of scene Work in a factory is a very monotonous sort of life for anyone but especially is it so for the careless spirit of a young boy or girl

There are two ways by which child labor may be effectively decreased These are by the enforcement of the new child labor laws and by the enforcement of the new school laws

One of the phases of school life that is very beneficial to the proper devel*opment of a child is the social intercourse* Mingling with other people and talking with them gives one new ideas and makes the mental powers more efficient it causes one to wish to speak better English and helps one to the fulfillment of the wish If a person thinks enough of his country and himself to wish to speak the language correctly it is quite likely that he will make a desirable citizen He has an extensive vocabulary and he will therefore have many more words in which to clothes his thoughts and many more thoughts to think For this reason it is likely that he will be able to contribute something of worth be it ever so small to American civilization

One of the greatest boons to the education of both older and young America is the public library Here the persons who would not otherwise be able to obtain the reading matter that they need or desire may get almost anything they wish Many people who did not have the best chances for improving their education while they were young may find means for a liberal education within the walls of a public library A most excellent illustration of this fact may be found in the examples set by the American men in the service during the late war

Along with the educational value to be received from books in the public libraries we might add something of the worth to our citizens of travel And not only travel in foreign countries but travel at home When the citizens of a town or city visit other places they get new ideas about the ways to conduct their own civic affairs they find that they might improve some departments perhaps by adding to them while others would be much better if something were taken away Then too travel satisfies the desire for change of scene and home tends toward the making of more contented citizens This is a result greatly to be desired and when it has been achieved it is something truly worth while

Having observed the material that goes into the making of a real citizen we can readily understand what a great asset education is Education is a thing that belongs to one for all time It is an everlasting joy Perhaps as we have traveled much in the realms of gold and many goodly states and kingdoms seen lies on we come upon a work of historical value or a piece of beautiful poetry that we are able to understand more fully through having had some training in our intellects we feel very much like Keats did when he was inspired to give us that wonderful thing of beauty his sonnet On First Looking Into Chapman's Homer

The City of Dreadful Night

By O. HENRY

"DURING the recent warmed spell said my friend Carney driver of express wagon No 8606 a good many opportunities was had of observing human nature through peekaboo waists

The Park Commissioner and the Commissioner of Police and the Forestry Commission gets together and agrees to let the people sleep in the parks until the Weather Bureau gets the thermometer down again to a living basis So they draw up an open air resolution and have them O K'd by the Secretary of Agriculture Mr Comstock and the Village Improvement Mosquito Exterminating Society of South Orange N J.

"When the proclamation was made opening up to the people by special grant the public parks that belong to 'em there was a general exodus into Central Park by the communities existing along its borders In ten minutes after sundown you'd have thought that there was an undress rehearsal of a potato famine in Ireland and a Kishinev massacre They came by families gangs clambakes societies, glee clubs and tribes from all sides to enjoy a cool sleep on the grass

'Ye know I live in the elegant furnished apartment house called the Beersheba Flats over against the elevated station of the New York Central Railroad

When the order come to the flats that all barrels must turn out and sleep in the park according to the instructions of the committee of the City Beautiful Murphy Drawing Roll Bedding Company there was a lot of a couple of fines and an evening all over the place

The teens began to pick up feather beds rubber boots strings of garlic hot water bags portable canoes and suitcases of food to take along for the sake of comfort The sidewalk looked like a Russian camp in Olympic line of march

Now twas a peaceful and happy

"What is the herding of us in the grass for?"

home that all of us had in the same Beersheba Flats Lil Dlow and the Steinowitzes and the Callahans and the Cohens and the Spizzinellis and the Manuels and the Spegelmayers and the Jones all the nations of us we lived like one big family together And when the hot nights come along we kept a line of children reaching from the front door to Kelly's on the corner passing along the cans of beer from one to another without the trouble of running after it And with no more clothing on than is put on for in the statut's sitting in all the windies with a cool growler in every one and your feet out in the air and the Rosenstein girls singing on the fire escape of the sixth floor and Patsy Rourke's flute going in the eighth and the ladies calling each other swims out the window now and then a breeze sailing in over Mister Depew's central I tell you the Beersheba Flats was a summer resort that made the Catskills look like a hole in the ground With his person full of beer and his feet out the windy and his old woman frying pork chops over a charcoal furnace and the children throwing cotton slips on the sidewalk and the organ grinder and the rent paid for a week—what does a man want better on a hot night than that? And then comes this ruling of the polis driving people out on their comfortable homes to sleep in parks—twas for all the world like a ukase of them Russians—twill be heard from again at next election time

Well then Officer Reagan drives the whole lot of us to the parks and turns us in by the nearest gate 'Tis dark under the trees and all the childher gets up to howling that they want to go home

There being no lights except along the automobile drives us tenants of the Beersheba Flats prepared to spend the night as best we could in the raging fines Them that brought blankets and kind words was best off They got fires started and wrapped the blankets round their heads and laid down, cursing in the grass There was nothing to see nothing to drink, nothing to do In the dark we had no way of telling friends or foes except by feeling the noses of em I brought along me last winter overcoat me tooth brush some quinine pills and the red quilt off the bed in me flat. Three times during the night somebody rolled on me quilt and stuck his knees against the Adam's apple of me And three times I judged his character by running me hand over his face, and three times I rose up and kicked the strangler down the hill to be travely walk below And then some one with a flavor of Kelly's whiskey kept tip to me and I thought I gave in to him then, Fitzsimmons, how long do you think it lasts?

'Long as the weather prophet says I, but if the fine long out a strong anti-Tammany set next fall it ought to get us home in time to sleep on a bed once or twice before they blow up at the pole

A passing of my flute into the airshaft says Patsy Rourke and a perspiring in me own woolen to the jeff noses of the passing trains and the smell of beer and onions and a long reading of the latest murder in the smoke of the cooking 'a well enough for me says he What's this herding us in grass for not to mention the crawling things with legs all over the bodies of us

And the Jones men that peek at us masquerading under the name of Mosquitoes and mosquitoes What is it all the Carney and the first night I met the same over at the flats

Well the night goes on and the expensive of the bites grows and stumbles around in the dark trying to find rest and recreation in the forest The teens begins to go down in the grass by twos and the dark but some lucky one can sleep next to a man from the same floor or be lying in the same regiment Now and then a Murphy ambulance would come to the grass of a fainting or a Gallagher trying to crawl under the O'Grady bush and then there a lifting of noses and smelling around down the hill to the driveway and stays there There is some hair pulling among the women folks and everybody spanks the nearest howling kid to him by the sense of feeling quite regardless of its parentage and ownership 'Twas hard to keep up the social distinction in the dark that fourth by twilight in the Beersheba Flats Mrs Rafferty that drops see the ashes that a Dago treads on wakes up in the morning with her feet in the kitchen of Antonio Spizzinelli And Mike O'Dowd the always threw bodies out as fast as he came up in the hall to unwind old Isaac Levy's whiskers from around his neck and wake up the whole kitchen at daylight But here and there some lucky one acquainted and cricked in the sense of the place Twas five engagements for the morning and invited at to flats the next morning

Well then I got up and wrapped myself in my flat and went down the hall and was down At twelve of the clock I could see the lights in the stores and houses, and I thinking how happy them is who could hide the duck and smile for peas at their wives and children and peasant in the grass relief from to

I set there in front the steps by myself for a long, well dressed man spoke

Mister says he, can you tell me what is the people are lying in the grass in the park? I thought it was against the rules'

Twas an ordinance says I, just passed by the Park Department that forbids the Turf Cutters Association from allowing that all persons in the grass shall keep in the path until further notice. I read the rules this very day and spite of the weather, and the man except on the borders of the lake and along the path of the grass not to go

What are these people on the grass for? says the man

Sure as I live, anything other than the grass of the Beersheba Flats is the same as the espe

Well, the man says he, I'll out on the pure air and the fragrance of the flowers and trees The air this night is coming every now from the burning lake of fire and brimstone

Now the Beersheba Flats says he, I'll tell ye the grass and the trees that grow exists benefits to a mass of people The rents shall be raised 50 per cent tomorrow.

Spudders Fail To Hit Opportunely and Buffs Take First Game 6 To 4

HOUSTON, May 31.—The Buffs clubbed the Spudders into submission in the first game of the series here today and sent the Wichita Falls troupe reeling back into seventh place as the result of a 6-to-4 defeat, the Marines vaulting over the prostrate forms of the Salmites into sixth position.

Walter Salm sent Abe Bowman to the mound in the curtain raiser, but Abe was unable to lengthen the Spudders' winning streak of two games into anything more substantial. He went the full distance, but found the Buff sticks very much in evidence. He might have gotten away with a victory at that, had he received anything like ordinary support, but his mates bobbled at critical times, Danny Clark being the principal offender.

Skipper Whiteman sent a southpaw against the Spudders and, although he was hit freely, he was master of the situation when a hit would have turned the tide. Potts was the youth's name. The situation became too critical in the ninth, however, when a couple of base hits made things look dubious for the home runers. Whiteman then gave him the high sign and pushed Clyde Barfoot to the hill. Clyde used good judgment along with his slants and, although one of the runners crossed the platter, he retired Jake Miller with the bags full after he had purposely passed McDonald with runners on second and third. The detailed score:

FIRST INNING.

Wichita Falls: Beecher fouled out to Bottomly. Gross was thrown out by Doyle. Rothfuss went out swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Houston:* Griggs fumbled Baggan's grounder and the latter was safe. Bailey sacrificed, Griggs to Clark. Whiteman drew a pass. Bottomly fanned. Baggan died stealing. Kitchens to McDonald. No runs, no hits, 1 error.

SECOND INNING.

Wichita Falls: Clark grounded to Darringer and was an easy out at first. McDonald hit weakly to Potts and was tossed out. Miller flew out to Whiteman. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Houston: Doyle popped to Clark. Darringer slapped a safety to left. Blades was retired to McDonald and Griggs, Darringer taking second. Griffith scored Darringer with a single to left and went to third when the ball got away from Beecher. Potts jofted to Miller. 1 run, 2 hits, 1 error.

THIRD INNING.

Wichita Falls: Griggs worked Potts for a pass. On the hit and run Kitchens slammed a safety to center and Griggs reached third, scoring a moment later on Bowman's long sacrifice fly to deep center. Kitchens went to second on Beecher's safety to left. Beecher drew a throw from Griffith and the ball went to right field, both runners moving up a notch. Gross hit nothing but the air. Potts winged Rothfuss, filling the bags, but Clark fell victim to Potts' southpaw slants and whiffed. 1 run, 2 hits, 1 error.

Houston: Clark threw out Baggan, and Bailey. Whiteman flew out to Beecher in deep left. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING.

Wichita Falls. Mc Donald popped to Griffith. Miller flew out to Whiteman. Griggs fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Houston. Bowman received poor support in this round and the Buffs counted twice. Bottomly fanned for the second time for a starter. Doyle poled a hit to right for one base. Darringer hit to McDonald who threw to Clark, but the latter dropped the ball with an easy double play in sight and all hands were safe. Blades bounced a hit off McDonald's shins filling the corners. Griffith punched a safety to center scoring Doyle and Darringer Blades went to third and Griffith to second on the relay to the plate. Blades tried to steal home, but was caught, Bowman to Kitchen. Potts skied to Miller for the final out. 2 runs, 3 hits, 1 error.

FIFTH INNING.

Wichita Falls. Kitchens beat out an infield hit. Bowman flew out to Bailey in right. Beecher forced Kitchens at second. Darringer to Blades and went out himself attempting to steal second. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

Houston. Miller retired Baggan. Bailey hit safely to left. Whiteman *flew out to Beecher. Bailey stole sec*ond, but died there when Bottomly grounded out, Bowman to Griggs.

SIXTH INNING.

Wichita Falls. Gross popped out to Doyle. Rothfuss dumped one down the third base line which he beat out. Clark drove a one base clout to right that put Rothfuss on second. McDonald popped to Blades. Miller sent Rothfuss across the pan with a single to left while Clark romped to third and he took second on the throw to the plate. Clark tried to steal the tying run, but was nipped at the plate, Potts to Griffith. 1 run, 3 hits, no errors.

Houston. The Buffs got the run back and added one more in this frame. Doyle opened by beating out a bunt down the third base line. He took sec and on Darringer's single to left. Blades dumped one down in front of the plate and Bowman threw to third too late to catch Doyle. Griffith scored Doyle with a sacrifice to Beecher and the other runners moved up a notch on the peg to the plate. Another sacrifice fly to Beecher by Potts scored Darringer. Baggan rolled one down the first base line and went out, Griggs to Bowman. 3 runs, 3 hits, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING.

Wichita Falls. The Spudders passed up a golden opportunity in this round when they filled the bags with only one out but could not score. Griggs and Kitchens singled in rapid succession, the former to right and the latter to left. After Bowman popped to Blades, Beecher watched four wide ones go by and filled the bags. Gross hit weakly to Potts and Griggs was forced at the plate. With one strike on Rothfuss, Bischoff went in to hit for him but his best was a skyscraper to Bagan. No runs, 2 hits, no errors.

Houston. Bailey lofted to Miller. Whiteman cracked a single to left. Bottomly fouled out to Kitchens and Doyle went out the same way to Works. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

EIGHT INNING.

Wichita Falls. Clark opened with a single to right and scooted to third when the sphere went through Bailey. McDonald socked one to left for a base and Clark scored. Miller flew out to Baggan. Griggs grounded to Blades and McDonald was forced at second. Kitchens made a great bid to tie the game up, but Baggan backed up against the left field barrier and pulled his drive off the boards. 1 run, 2 hits, 1 error.

Houston. Darringer flew out to Miller. Blades worked Bowman for a pass and went to second while Griffith was being thrown out at first by Bowman. Potts drove a long double between Miller and Rothfuss that scored Blades. Baggan also drew a pass, but Bailey ended the inning by flying to Miller in deep center. 1 run, 1 hit, no errors.

NINTH INNING.

Wichita Falls. Bowman singled to right. Beecher bounced a hard drive off Potts' glove that was recovered by Darringer and Bowman was forced at second. Gross singled to center and Beecher halted at second. With two hats and one strike on Bischoff, Potts was derricked and Barfoot was rushed to the mound. Salm then yanked Bischoff and sent McElwee in to hit. He came through with an infield hit which filled the bags. Clark scored Beecher with a sacrifice fly to left. McDonald was purposely passed, filling the corners again. Miller grounded out, Blades to Bottomly. 1 run, 3 hits, no errors.

VERNON WILL MEET NORTH FT. WORTH HI FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

State Baseball Title Will Be Decided Friday and Saturday in Vernon.

VERNON, TEXAS, June 1.—Vernon high school will meet North Fort Worth high school here in a two-game series Friday and Saturday of this week, according to an agreement made between coaches and players last week while the local team was in Fort Worth. The Tarrant county aggregation promised to come to Vernon for a two-game series in the event that Abilene was beaten by Coach Winston's team, and that agreement is being carried out. The games will be the last of the season for Vernon and without a doubt will decide definitely all claims to the state championship. A win over Abilene has put Vernon in a position to contest for the supremacy, and this can only be decided by one or more games with North Fort Worth high. In the event that Fort Worth wins either game of the series, it will have the championship and it will be necessary for Vernon to annex both to gain the title.

It was Ruth's 118th home-run of his major league career and set a new major league record. The former record of 117 home-runs was held by C. C. Crayath, formerly of the Philadelphia Nationals.

CHICAGO, May 31.—"Speed" Davenport, after relieving Mulrennan on the mound, put Chicago out in front with his timely double, but he blew up in the ninth inning and St. Louis staged a rally which enabled them to take the final game of the series 8 to 7. The locals outhit the visitors, but poor pitching and stupid base running cost them the game.

Play Begins Today For International Golf Championship

By E. W. HULLINGER
United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, June 1.—Play for the International Amateur championship, the first of France's annual series of golf classics, began today on the Chantilly links. Teams from America, England and France were entered, the American and British entrants leading numerically. England and America will probably fight it out for the honors, according to dopesters. The chances of the French players are rated considerably lower. This year's program includes two big plays for men, two for women and one free-for-all, open to winners in both series. Victors in the International Amateur championship, which will probably last about four days, will have the privilege of entering the "Grand Concours Internationale" (36 holes) at La Boulie, next Monday, June 6. French players with a handicap of two or less also will be eligible.

On June 14, the ladies' championship (medal play) will begin at Fontainebleau. Winners of this event will meet at La Boulie, June 20, in a Grand Concours Internationaux, for women.

Play for the open championship, at Le Touquet, is scheduled to commence June 29.

On account of the lateness of the date of the French classic, winners in the English championship will be able to participate.

France's "scratch" players, the Duke De Mouchy and A. Vagliane, were said to be in best form. Other promising French entrants were Baron Francois de Bellet, Phillippe Berard and Count L. de Montgomery.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

NEW YORK, May 31.—Home-runs by Williams, Gruggy and Meusel aided Philadelphia in defeating New York today in the third game of their series by a score of 10 to 5. Meusel's home-run was his ninth of the season and enabled him to take the home-run lead of the National league from Kelly of New York.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright 1920 New York Tribune Inc.)

ENGLAND, May 31.

The daylight which belongs to England and Scotland may be a trifle too hasy for the moving picture industry, but it is a great boost for sport. The business man or laborer here may finish his day's work, put away his evening chow and then get in eighteen holes of golf or three sets of tennis before the gray half light runs on through purple dusk into darkness. One can start a round of golf at 8 p. m. and still get in the full journey. Or, if one doesn't play golf, he can still dabble at some other sport for a brace of hours before the lengthening shadows drift in upon the scene.

They have something on us in the way of extra daylight, which is an assignment from nature and, therefore, neither a virtue nor a vice in either direction. But they also have a big edge on us in parking crowds, which is all to their credit. When the Yale Bowl was built to handle 70,000 spectators we took an extra gasp at its mastodonic proportions. Yet at Hampden Park, Glasgow, they can now assemble 140,000 people, and by next spring these accommodations will be extended to take in 175,000, two and a half times as many as our greatest outdoor arena can surround. The Crystal Palace outside of London can accommodate about as many.

These crowd arrangements have a vast public value. They not only yield an opportunity for enjoyment to a far greater number of people, but they also yield a big revenue through a much smaller charge. Which is to say that the individual isn't taxed nearly as much at the turnstile as he is in the United States.

At the big international football match between England and Scotland at Glasgow the official attendance was 100,000 and the gate receipts amounted to 14,000 pounds or about $55,000. This was only an average charge of 55 cents a head for an entertainment that corresponds to our world series. There were numerous seats that only came to 25 cents. Can you imagine yourself getting within eyesight of any big championship match in the United States for a quarter? If so, you have one of the rarest little imaginations now left in this somber realm.

What we need back in the United States is a big enlargement of our stands and a big reduction in the cheaper seats, an arrangement wherein those with small incomes will have their opportunity to attend without wrecking the waning bankroll. This arrangement should come in connection with every major sport. Small stands and high prices hit the public both ways, but the public has become so accustomed to being soaked both ways that it takes the double wallop for granted. As it is now thousands are frequently shut away from big sporting pageants through lack of space, and those who attend are called upon to pay much more than they should. Wise promoters will take this into brief consideration.

Prices charged for the coming international polo matches are all out of line over here with other sports. But the situation is different. Polo is an expensive pastime, where the revenue taken in will be only a small part of the total cost. And there is no chance to handle any big crowd, as big crowds go.

An enormous proportion of the population over here either plays or goes out to see some form of sport. It is a rarity when one stumbles upon an Englishman, young or old, male or female, who isn't a nut upon one or more sports, racing, boxing, football, golf or tennis. As a rule most of them have at least two or three highly favored pastimes to play or follow.

INDIANS NOW WITHOUT FIRST STRING CATCHER

DETROIT, MICH., May 31.—Catcher O'Neill of the Cleveland Americans may be out of the game for some time owing to an injury to the second finger of his throwing hand sustained in yesterday morning's game here. O'Neill was hit by a fast ball while batting against Ehmke. It was believed a bone was fractured. His injury leaves the champions without a first string catcher, Nunamaker also being on the crippled list with an injured hand.

TURNBERRY, June 1—Sara Fownes of Pittsburgh, the last of the four American golfers to reach the third round of the British ladies' open golf championship, was eliminated this afternoon by Mrs. C. Autley of Thanet, former champion of Kent, by 6 up and 5 to play.

Miss Ada McKenzie of Toronto, the former Canadian champion, was beaten by Doris E. Chambers of Wirral at the 20th hole.

Mrs. H. R. Barlow of Philadelphia lost her match to Miss Joyce Wethered of Worplesdon by 5 up and 4 to play.

Miss Joy Wynn of Alderburgh defeated Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago 2 up and 1 to play.

Miss Janet Jackson of Island Malahide defeated Mrs. Q. F. Feltner of South Shore, Long Island, 8 up and 7 to play.

Miss Cecil Leitch, the British champion, defeated Miss Jane McCulloch of West Kilbride 2 up and 1 to play.

Dempsey Has Never Had Trouble With Hands in the Ring

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 1—One of champion Jack Dempsey's greatest assets in all his ring battles has been the condition of his hands. The heavyweight title holder never has trouble with them. When he enters a ring he knows that his hands will be able to land crushing blows without breaking.

Dempsey has no particular method for hardening his hands. The hard rough work he used to do in the mines probably helped toughen them, but they are naturally big, broad and strong. The skin on them is quite the same as a piece of shoe leather.

The title holder takes particular pains to protect his hands even in training. He personally binds them with wire tape, and then wraps them with a felt bandage, one inch wide. Over this Dempsey pulls on a pair of leather gloves, with the fingers cut off at the base of the hand.

Unlike other champions, Dempsey has never broken his hands in battle.

SOUTH BEND PLANS BIG CELEBRATION OF SOUTHERN'S ARRIVAL

South Bend will celebrate handsomely on June 16 when the Wichita Falls and Southern runs its first train into that thriving oil community in Young county, according to H. P. Hanson, secretary of the South Bend chamber of commerce, who was in the city Wednesday.

Mr. Hanson was here to invite Wichita Falls' participation in the celebration, and was assured by chamber of commerce officials that this city would be largely and strongly represented at the celebration. Invitations are being sent to all West Texas towns, and South Bend is preparing to make the occasion a memorable one in every respect.

The date of the celebration is not definitely determined as yet, but plans are being laid for a celebration starting June 16, there being every reason to believe that the road will be completed into South Bend by the middle of this month.

REFEREE FOR BOUT MAY BE SELECTED

Rickard in Conference With Representatives of Principals Regarding Official and Movies.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Selection of the referee for the Dempsey-Carpentier bout and discussion of moving picture rights will be the subject of a conference tomorrow between Promoter Tex Rickard and representatives of the principals today.

"Personally, I am not concerned in the appointment of the referee except that a competent official is named," said Rickard.

The trend the moving picture rights discussion will take now is uncertain. Under the contract, Rickard holds a 50 per cent share in the prospective films, while Dempsey and Carpentier each a 25 per cent interest. Several tentative offers have been received for purchase of these rights. It has been customary for former heavyweight boxers to sell their film rights. Jeffries sold his interest for $66,000 and Johnson for $60,000. Dempsey sold his rights to the pictures of the Toledo battle for $10,000.

SPORT SHOTS by Paul W. Barkin

Back to seventh place and through nobody's fault but their own.

Today was the first day that the Spudders spent in seventh place. They flopped from sixth place to the bottom April 30 and just one month later, May 30, they went back to sixth.

The Spudders will find conditions in Houston far different than they did on their last trip to the southern city. It is not at all uncommon to see in the account of the games played in the Buff city that "the largest crowd of the year attended." The Buffs did well to clear expenses the latter part of the 1920 season. Of course the change in conditions will not make Salm mad.

Yesterday the boys hit the apple hard enough and often enough, but not timely enough.

Abe Bowman was subjected to some rude treatment by the home hitters, but stuck through the bombardment and his mates should have won for him.

Eleven men stranded on the sacks will perhaps tell the tale better than any other explanation. The Spudders declared an armistice with their clubs in practically every instance when men were waiting to score.

A few members of the Rooters' club "Buddy Tanner Day" committee were a bit skeptical the other day at the meeting about getting 1,000 fans to join the club. We don't see why they should be. If there's one thing Wichita Falls can boast of, it's real baseball fans. And 1,000 does not include them all by a long shot. Some of the fans can hardly wait until the buttons and megaphones arrive. We have received several calls over the phone asking where to send the membership dues of the dollar.

Airdome fans had their usual ninth inning thrill. The Spudders jammed the corners and everyone was praying for that one little bingle that would have probably broken up the matinee, but it was not forthcoming. Tomorrow's game at the dome will be the last for some time.

When the Cubs battered Cooper of the Pirates yesterday for a victory, it was the first loss sustained by him this season. He had won seven in a row and was charged with no defeats.

What's a British golf title compared to an international title anyway? Nothing daunted by his crushing defeat in the English tourney, "Chick" Evans is in France and will be one of the starters in the French classic. The American invasion of foreign soil has been anything but a success to date.

Not long ago a story was sent out from the Dempsey camp in which it was stated that Jack and Georges were similar in one respect—they both loved the best of "eats." But that is not the only characteristic common to both. Both are hard and conscientious trainers.

Dempsey has always been regarded as one of the hardest workers in the game when it comes to preparing for an important engagement. Few heavyweights in the past have applied themselves as diligently as does the champion and few have seemed to enjoy the training routine more. Training is an arduous task and one that most boxers dislike extremely. It is not so with Dempsey, however. Nor is it true of Carpentier. The Frenchman has proved to the critics of this country that he is no sluggard.

Bull Montana, who appeared here twice in wrestling bouts is now an accredited member of the champion's training camp. The daily wrestling bouts between Jack and Bull are very popular with the crowds who have been attending the workouts. The powerful Bull gives Dempsey some hard handling during the bouts, taking opportunity to twist and knead the champion while they are locked in holds, and otherwise harden the fighter for any possible attempted holding tactics on the part of Carpentier.

GERMANY OBJECTS TO FRENCH FRANC CURRENCY

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Germany has addressed a note of protest to the League of Nations against the establishment of the French franc as the official currency in the Saar district which is under the administration of the league, according to advices received here today in official circles.

The commission of government of the League of Nations in the Saar district directed that beginning on May 26 the French franc instead of the German mark should be the official currency for both posts and railroads. The German protest is understood to have been based on the charge that the order constituted a fundamental and illegal alteration of the treaty of Versailles.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

New York Stocks—Grain and Provisions—Cotton—Livestock

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The cotton market was comparatively quiet during today's early trading. Another private crop report was published placing the condition at 65.1 and the reduction in acreage a little over 30 per cent with an indicated yield of 7,590,000 bales. Complaints of lack of rain and some boll weevil damage failed to create any general buying. After opening steady at a decline of 8 points to an advance of 1 point, active months sold some 4 to 5 points below last night's closing, to 12.88 for July and 13.65 for October.

Reports of a local authority making the condition 68.8 with a reduction of 31.8 per cent in acreage and suggested crop of 8,000,000 bales was less bullish than the average of recent figures. This probably helped to check fresh buying. Prices eased off with October selling down to 13.55c, or 14 points net lower. The weekly report of the weather bureau was considered favorable and prices were at about the lowest point shortly after mid-day.

No fresh feature developed during the middle of the afternoon and trading remained quiet with October ruling around 13.57, or 12 to 13 points net lower.

Cotton futures closed steady. July, 12.74c; October, 13.50c. December, 13.91c; January, 13.99c, March, 14.30c.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Cotton spot quiet, middling, 12.90c.

ew Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.—After advances of 2 to 3 points on the opening call today, the cotton market fell off for small declines and at the end of the first hour of business stood 4 to 9 points up [illegible] the close of yesterday under selling stimulated by favorable weather conditions over the belt. July traded up to 12.50 and then fell off to 12.39.

The weekly crop reports from the government were somewhat better than expected and selling increased. Offerings were also stimulated by reports of a cotton mill strike in sections of the Atlantic. In the trading up to 11 o'clock July dropped to 12.31 and prices went to 16 to 18 points under the close of yesterday.

The late trading brought scattered selling but the selling plainly was supported by expectations of an unfavorable report on condition tomorrow. The concensus of opinion appeared to be that the figures would be around 65 to 66 per cent of normal. The closing prices were at net losses of 17 to 20 points with July at 12.30.

The cotton market closed steady at net declines of 16 to 20 points

CHICAGO, June 1.—Wheat advanced readily in price today, influenced for the most part by absence of any aggressive selling. Opening quotations, which varied from ½@¾c higher, with July $1.29½@1.30 were followed by a decided further upturn.

Corn, after opening ½@¾c higher, including July at 65@65½c, hardened still more.

Oats started ½@¾ up, July 41½c, and later made a slight additional gain.

Higher hog values tended to lift provisions.

Subsequently, steep advances were made, estimates that the winter crop would not exceed 500,000,000 bushels being construed as decidedly favorable to the buying side. France and Germany and seaboard domestic millers were said to have purchased more or less. The close was strong, 8½c to 8½c net higher, at $1.37 to $1.37½ for July.

Later the market developed additional strength owing to expected falling off in receipts and the prospective large shipments from Chicago to-the east. Prices closed firm, 11c to 21c net higher, with July at 66½c to 66½c.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The stock market was inclined to make further concessions to professional pressure at the opening of today's session. Oils, motors, steels, coppers and tobaccos added to yesterday's reversals, but with a few unimportant exceptions losses were restricted to fractions. Rails made no appreciable response to the wage reduction announced by the United States labor board. Before the end of the first half hour, however, the market became distinctly heavy, Crucible steel falling nearly three points and United States rubber 1½.

Passing the dividend on South Porto Rico Sugar exerted no adverse effect, having been discounted in yesterday's severe decline. Motors were under increased pressure, however, Pierce-Arrow preferred falling almost five points to a new low. Liberty 3½ per cent bonds also established a new minimum at a fraction under 87.

Crucible was under severe pressure later at an extreme decline of almost four points but oils, motors and equipments hardened despite the 7½ per cent quotation for call money. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 575,000 shares.

LIVESTOCK.

Fort Worth Livestock.

FORT WORTH, June 1.—Although only 2,000 head of cattle and 500 calves arrived today, the market was lifeless and everything faced a downward revision in prices. Speculators secured a few cars of low priced steers at steady rates, but packers were bidding 25 to 50c lower on steers and cows and calves did not seem to be wanted at any price.

Steady prices were paid for hogs and the market was active. Packers paid $7.50 to $7.65 for hogs of good quality and the bulk of the run sold at $7.25 to $7.50. Receipts reached 1,200 head.

No change developed in sheep quotations. About 600 head arrived. Quotations:

"HIDING," THEY NEARLY DIED

For four terror-filled days two babies hungered and struggled for breath in a closet four feet long and 16 inches wide, and between long stretches of sleep cried the weary hours away. The tots were 7-year-old Harry Farber and Stella Weiner, 4 years old. They had been playing hide-and-seek in the neighborhood of their home in Patterson, N. J., seeking a good place to hide they entered an empty room. The little girl who was "it" rushed the closet door and slammed it, locking it automatically. The children were found [illegible] days later by two boys who returned to the apartment to play a quiet game of poker. Hearing a strange noise in the closet one of the boys flung the door open and the little boy who had been propped up against the single crevice in the panel in an effort to breathe fell out of the closet in an unconscious heap. The little girl was half conscious and lying on the floor of the dark closet. The lad admitted that he had cried a little but that he mostly yelled and kicked the door and tried to soothe the saddened little companion of his solitude. All Patterson had been hunting for the missing children and now there is peace once again in the household.

Three Disguised as Beggar and One Carrying Bomb Are Arrested at Guadalupe.

MEXICO CITY, June 1.—Three persons disguised as beggars, one of them said to be carrying a dynamite bomb, were arrested last night at the village of Guadalupe, charged with attempting to break up religious services in the cathedral. They were later released and as they left the prison were stoned by a crowd. The men are believed to be bolshevik leaders.

FIRST INSTALLMENT GERMAN PAYMENT IS MADE THROUGH U. S.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The first installment of Germany's reparation payment to the allies to be made through the United States $[illegible],000,000—today was in the federal reserve bank of New York. The German government through New York banking institutions completed the deal yesterday.

The payments were made by the transfer of banking credits.

Financial men today in discussing the payment recalled that Germany recently has been selling dollars by the sale of exchange abroad causing a tremendous decline in the exchanges of all countries. The dollar credit acquired by Germany was believed to have been assembled in New York to meet the allied reparations payments. The amount thus acquired in the past week alone was estimated by various bankers as being from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000.

It was learned that several bales of paper money have arrived from Hamburg in the last few weeks, and returning soldiers of the army of occupation have declared that American money disappeared completely after it was once spent in a German shop.

NEW SOARINGS OF WHEAT PRICES IN CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, June 1.—New soarings of prices in the wheat market took place today, the July delivery rising nine cents to $1.34½ a bushel shortly after mid-day. Bullish crop reports, together with European buying, appeared to be largely responsible. The price was the highest of the season for July.

According to a leading crop expert the probable yield of the domestic winter crop is [illegible] bushels less than what had been indicated a month ago. Moreover selling pressure today was unusually light.

NOTE FROM THE U. S. TO THE NEHERLANDS STIRS UP THE DUTCH

THE HAGUE, June 1.—The new note from the United States government regarding the Netherlands colonial policy in the Dutch East Indies has evidently caused much concern in the foreign office.

Foreign Minister H. A. Van Karnebeek yesterday held a long conference with the chief of the department of colonial affairs. It is presumed that the American note was discussed.

It is generally believed that the Dutch government's answer will again put forward the government's standpoint and express regret of the American view of Holland's policy.

PROFITS BY WHAT HER MOTHER DID

Little Rock Woman Induced to Take Tanlac Through Parent's Restoration.

"Tanlac restored my mother's health so perfectly that I began taking it, too, and just two bottles have helped me wonderfully," said Mrs. Goldia Bird, 310½ E Markham street, Little Rock, Ark.

"A short time ago I seemed to have a general breakdown," she continued. "My stomach became so disordered that nothing tasted good and I just didn't want to eat a thing. I fell off in weight and became weak and run-down. My complexion was pale and sallow and my back ached so I could hardly lift my little baby. I took little or no interest in anything and was going from bad to worse.

"But I think Tanlac is just wonderful to have helped me so in such a short time. I have only finished my second bottle but already I feel like a different person. I enjoy what I eat and am gaining in weight. The pains have about all gone from my back and I have been built up so I feel better and stronger in every way. I have nothing but the highest praise for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller company, in Electra by Tarleton Drug company, West End Drug company, Burkburnett, Texas, and by all leading druggists. (adv.)

"ROTARY GIRL" WILL GRADUATE THIS WEEK AT BAYLOR COLLEGE

MISS BESSIE JONES

When Bessie Jones receives her diploma at Baylor college this week she will be no prouder of the scrap of parchment than will be the members of the Rotary club of Wichita Falls. Not that she wouldn't have attained the honor and dignity of a graduate without the Rotary club's help, but that organization certainly made its attainment somewhat easier.

Miss Jones is an orphan girl who has resided in Wichita Falls during most of the 16 years of her life. Determined to get an education, she enrolled at Baylor college, where by washing dishes, sweeping and tasks of that kind for five hours a day, she was able to meet the expenses of her education and stay in school.

Largely by accident, the local Rotary club learned, about two years ago, about Bessie Jones and the plucky struggle she was making, and learned also that she was a Wichita Falls girl. In accordance with annual custom each member of the club had contributed one dollar at Christmas, to be used for some worthy purpose, and Dr. C B Hartsook, then president of the club, decided that it could not be more appropriately employed than in lifting some of the load from Bessie's shoulders.

Later, the club virtually adopted Bessie, and made further contributions to her education and support, making it possible for her to give up the drudgery she had been undergoing and to devote her full time to her studies. She has been making good and proving herself entirely worthy of the club's friendship.

The club wanted to be represented at her graduation, and sent Rev N. F. Grafton to Belton to attend the commencement exercises.

Next year she will attend the College of Industrial Arts at Denton and continue her education. She insists that she is going to make her life one of exceptional usefulness, to repay the Rotary club for its interest in her. Whether this will be done by her marrying some good Rotarian later on, or in other ways, remains to be seen. In the meantime, the Rotarians will look after her.

QUANAH COMPRESS TO BE READY FOR FALL SEASON

QUANAH, TEXAS, June 1—The Quanah compress will be ready for operation again before the cotton season opens this fall. It will be situated on the site where the old press burned a few months ago, and will be modern in every respect. Some of the construction material has arrived, and other shipments are expected daily. The grounds are being leveled and all preparatory steps are being taken to hasten the important work as much as possible without sacrificing stability and convenience. The equipment will be the most complete in this section of the state.

The present platform will be used. The burned platform will be replaced with concrete, covering throughout with sawtooth shed roofed with fireproof material. Fire walls will be built and every part will be constructed with a view to fire prevention and to facilitate fire fighting.

The rebuilding of this compress will greatly facilitate the movement of the cotton crop of the section of the state, and will furnish employment for a large crew of men, adding materially to Quanah's industrial pay roll.

Good Candy—No Matter What the Weather Is

It used to be that candy was forbidden fruit in the summer time; but that was before candy storage refrigerators made it possible to keep it crisp, fresh and snappy, free from stickiness and messiness—just as good as on the coldest day that blows.

Fresh shipments of Crane and Elmer candies just received; there's no better candy any time, anywhere.

SHOOTING THE TRIANGLE IS DEVOID OF RESULTS

VERNON, TEXAS, June 1—Shooting the Triangle well Saturday afternoon failed to bring the results anticipated, and operators are now undecided what further action will be taken with the hole. Sunday morning there was 300 feet of oil and water in the test, and most of this was water. It had been hoped that the ten quarts of nitroglycerine would bring a bountiful supply of oil and only moderate water, but the results were directly the opposite. The shot, however, did not injure the well.

A meeting of Triangle stockholders will be held next Monday afternoon and the proposition of further deepening the well will be considered. Deepening the test will be a financial hazard, but the fact that the Triangle has not as yet encountered gas showings as in other wells of the field is considered an indication that a sufficient depth has not as yet been reached.
